Four Yank Helicopters Shot Down

Kill 218 Cong In Two Days

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The South Vietnamese army claimed today that its troops killed 218 Viet Cong guerrillas in two battles in the past two days.

The claim was not confirmed by U.S. military spokesmen.

The Vietnamese said 168 guerrillas were killed in the major battle Wednesday night in the Mekong Delta, 10 miles southwest of Can Tho and 95 miles southwest of Saigon. Earlier they had reported 60 Viet Cong killed.

About 500 guerrillas clashed with a government battalion which was reinforced by four other battalions. The government troops as a whole suffered moderate casualties, the Vietnamese said, but one company took heavy losses. During the action, 37 Vietnamese prisoners of the Viet Cong were set free.

A Vietnamese photographer for The Associated Press, Huynh Thanh My, also was killed during the fighting.

Fifty Viet Cong were reported killed in another Vietnamese operation Thursday in Binh Duong Province 20 miles north-west of Saigon. The Vietnamese said they took light losses in the action.

Troops of the U.S. Army's 1st Infantry Division reported sporadic contact in the same area today but said there were no casualties to either side.

Four U.S. Army helicopters were shot down Thursday in the central highlands as 8,000 troops of the 1st Air Cavalry Division ended a huge five-day operation. American casualties were described as light.

Three of the helicopters were lifted to safety by giant helicopters called Chinooks but the other was burned, apparently by the Viet Cong.

U.S. sources said 45 Viet Cong were killed and 46 captured in the offensive in the Suai Ca Valley 280 miles north of Saigon.

With 4,000 to 6,000 government troops also taking part, it was the biggest U.S.-Vietnamese operation of the war. A U.S. spokesman said earlier it appeared that the large enemy force previously reported in the area had chosen to flee rather than fight.

Cargo, Troop Move Establishes Record

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. (AP)—The Military Air Transport Service transported a record amount of cargo and troops during an airlift for the military build-up in Southeast Asia.

MATS headquarters at Scott Air Force Base said Thursday crews logged more than 100,000 hours flying time transporting 50-million pounds of cargo and 95,000 men during three months ended Sept. 30.

The flights were from Travis AFB, Calif.; Kelly AFB, Tex., and McChord AFB, Wash., to Hawaii, Wake, Guam, Japan, Okinawa, the Philippines and Viet Nam.

Two Women Bound Over For Trial

Two Kansas City women charged here with stealing over $50 in connection with a shoplifting incident were bound over for Circuit Court trial following a preliminary hearing Friday morning in Magistrate Court before Judge Frank Armstrong.

Ordered to stand trial were Terry Ann White, 20, and Mary J. Evans, 36, who were arrested by police here on Sept. 23 and accused of taking a quantity of dresses and transistor radios from the Tempo Store in the Thompson Hills Shopping Center.

Testifying at the preliminary hearing were Chuck Schneider, a department manager at the Tempo Store; Mary Frances Mullins, of the Tempo soft lines department; Margaret Arnett, receiving manager for the store; Deputy Sheriff Jack Coutts, who executed a search warrant obtained by authorities to search the auto the defendants were using at the time of their arrest; Police Sgt. Perry Franklin, the officer who made the arrest as the two were driving away from the Thompson Hills Shopping Center; and Police Sgt. John McDonald, who assisted in the investigation.

Mrs. Mullins testified she was called to police headquarters and said she was able to identify seven dresses and suit-dresses as being from the Tempo store. She testified she had hung the particular dresses and had tried one of them on herself. The dresses ranged in price from $9.98 to $11.98, she said.

Mrs. Arnett told the court she observed Miss White, the younger of the two defendants, enter the store the morning of Sept. 23 shortly after the store opened for business. None of the other Tempo employees were able to testify to seeing either of the two in the store, however.

Officers testified Rolla Hayworth, of the City Safe & Lock Company, was called to police headquarters to open the trunk of the 1962 auto the two women were riding in after they told officers they had no trunk key. Seven transistor radios and seven dresses were found in the trunk of the car.

Miss White and Miss Evans were in court with an attorney, but offered no testimony. They had been free on $5,000 bond posted through the Bradshaw Bonding Company, but the bonding firm withdrew as surety following the preliminary and the two women were lodged in the Pettis County jail in lieu of bond.

Sacred Heart School Wins Book Prize

NEW YORK (AP) — Publications of eight schools in Kansas and 14 in Missouri were announced today as award winners in the 30th annual contest and critique for yearbooks conducted by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Awards were announced at the opening session of the annual conference and short course on yearbook production at Columbia University.

Rating was done on a 1,000-point scoring system covering writing, production and pictorial coverage. The highest honor, medalist, went to yearbooks of distinction, first place to those getting 850-1,000 points, second to those receiving 750-849 points, and third to yearbooks scoring 650-749 points.

Only one yearbook in Kansas and Missouri received the medalist rating and that was the Sunflower of Topeka High School, Topeka, Kan., in the division for offset yearbooks, senior highs with 1501-2500 students.

The Missouri winners: First Place Sagamore, Southeast Missouri State College, Cape Girardeau, printed yearbooks, college-university.

Ramizou, Raytown High, Raytown, and Gleam, William Chrisman High, Independence, both offset yearbooks, senior highs, 901-1500 students.

Navy Policy On Surviving Son Restored

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has restored a policy permitting men who are sole surviving sons to be kept out of combat, it was learned today.

To get such protection, a Navy officer or enlisted man must make a formal request for assignment to noncombat roles. The policy applies to "sole surviving sons in families depleted by incidents of the service" since 1940.

The action was taken by the Navy about two weeks ago following a study. The policy had been canceled more than three years ago.

The Army, Air Force and Marine Corps all said they have never abandoned their sole surviving son practices which were begun in World War II.

A Navy order issued Sept. 28 specified that any officer or enlisted man who chooses this course shall be released from uniform as soon as their enlistments or period of obligated service has run out.

In other words, the Navy apparently doesn't want such men if they cannot be used in combat service and will get rid of them at the earliest possible time.

The Navy has put out another order which will give enlisted men who complete a tour in Viet Nam "every consideration practicable on being ordered to their next assignment."

Such treatment is being accorded, the Navy order said, "in view of the unusual hardships, exposure to hostile action and the difficult working conditions" connected with the operations in and around Viet Nam.

Eligible are enlisted men who have completed the normal year-long tour in Viet Nam or a comparable period afloat in that war theater.

It was specified that any sailor or who has finished such a tour in Viet Nam will be spared a second such assignment for at least three years, unless he volunteers or unless the chief of naval personnel okays another tour.

However, the Navy order made it plain that the service wants to encourage volunteers wishing to extend their service in the war area up to three years.

United Fund Total Mounts to $31,124

Contributions to the Sedalia-Pettis County United Fund campaign are continuing to mount up and UF officials posted a new figure of $31,124 Friday morning on the hog progress sign on the courthouse lawn.

Goal of the campaign is $79,886 and the drive is slated to continue until Oct. 27.

20 Inches Of Rain In Florida

Biggest Rainfall Known to History At Pompano Beach

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Jittery residents inched their doors open today to find flooded streets, seawalls washed away and cars stalled in three feet of water.

The area had its greatest rainfall in living memory. It was still raining after more than 20 inches of rain fell on Pompano Beach in 13 hours Thursday.

Police told residents of the Pompano Beach-Fort Lauderdale area: "If you don't have to go out, stay home."

The rain dumped more water on Pompano Beach than any hurricane has in 18 years. The city declared a state of emergency as police in nearby Fort Lauderdale took nearly 3,000 calls from motorists seeking help with stalled cars.

The rain flooded septic tanks and health authorities warned parents not to let their children play in the flood water.

A woman walking her dog was killed by a hit-and-run driver, who police said may not have seen her in the driving rain.

Officers barricaded streets that they thought might cave in. Part of one street was washed into the Wahoo Canal. At one spot, seawalls collapsed from the weight of water behind them — not the waves breaking in front.

The rest of south Florida was also lashed by hours of heavy rain. Up to 10 inches was reported in Miami. The Weather Bureau didn't foresee an early letup.

On the Florida West Coast, the St. Petersburg Independent, which has a standing offer to give away its paper if the sun doesn't shine, made good on the offer for the first time since Feb. 4, 1964.

The Weather

Considerable cloudiness and mild with several periods of showers and thunderstorms tonight and Saturday; locally heavy rain tonight and early Saturday. Low tonight near 60. High Saturday 75 to 82.

The temperature Friday was 64 at 7 a.m. and 72 at noon. Low Thursday night was 59. Rainfall between mid-morning Thursday and 7 a.m. Friday totaled 1.9 inches.

The temperature one year ago today was high 81, low 44; two years ago, high 90, low 63; three years ago, high 80, low 69.

Lake of Ozarks stage: 58.2 feet; 1.8 below full reservoir; up .4.

Dies In Car Accident

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A 90-year-old woman was killed Thursday in an accident on the 18th Street expressway.

She was Mrs. Mahla Covell of Hayward, Calif. Her daughter Mrs. Bernice L. Carell, 61, of Hayward, suffered rib fractures and lacerations.

Mrs. Carell was driving a car which hit a light pole.

Youths Burn University At Jakarta

Clash With 60 Communist Youths; Several Are Hurt

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — About 800 youths screaming "down with communism" burned the Chinese University Thursday and clashed with about 60 Communist Chinese students outside a dormitory.

Witnesses said knives and firearms were used in the fight and there were several injured on both sides before soldiers intervened.

The Chinese University is sponsored by an association of local pro-Peking Chinese. Its two-story building was burned to the ground.

It was the first time that demonstrators had attacked Chinese since the army-inspired, anti-Communist campaign started following the Sept. 30 coup attempt.

Earlier Thursday about 10,000 youths held an anti-Communist rally and then staged a noisy demonstration in Jakarta streets. They shouted "Dissolve the PKI and hang Aidit." The PKI is the Indonesian Communist party and D.N. Aidit is its chief.

Aidit has not been seen since the abortive coup but has been reported in central Java.

Radio Jakarta said President Sukarno met with First Deputy Premier Subandrio, Second Deputy Premier Johannes Leimena and Third Deputy Premier Chaerul Saleh in his continuing efforts to "normalize the situation."

Diplomatic observers in Jakarta said the appointment of anti-Communist Maj. Gen. Suharto as the new army commander meant "one up" for the army in the struggle for power in the Indonesian capital.

Lightning Damage To Sedalia TV Sets

Several Sedalians sustained damage to their television sets and antennas Thursday afternoon and night by lightning that accompanied the sharp thunderstorm which hit the city.

Lightning ran in on the TV set at 8:48 p.m. at the Charles W. Homan residence, 911 East Seventh, and caused $100 damage. An identical loss was counted at the Earl Dillon home, 923 East Fifth, at 8:07 p.m.

A television antenna at the rear of the James E. Durely home, 1812 West Fourth, was struck about 6:30 p.m. causing $160 damage.

City firemen also responded to a lightning report at the A. W. Woodson residence, 1604 South Carr, but reported no damage at 4:42 p.m.

Space Switch Engine Orbits

Military Space Project In Important Rehearsal

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A Titan 3 rocket today hurled into orbit a "space switch engine" intended to ignite 10 times, change course four times and eject three satellites in an important rehearsal for manned and unmanned military space missions.

The triple-barreled Titan 3, most powerful rocket ever launched by the United States, thundered skyward on its second test flight at 12:24 p.m. on 2.65 million pounds of thrust produced by two solid-fuel rockets attached to a center rocket.

The 12-story-tall booster spewed a 500-foot tail of white hot flame as it burst upward, darted through a heavy cloud layer and drilled the "switch engine" — the fourth stage — into orbit. The Air Force announced 15 minutes later that early phases of the tricky, orbit-shifting flight had been completed successfully. The maneuvers were to take place over a three-hour period.

The 15-foot "switch engine" ignited a first time to provide the final push to place it in an initial orbit ranging from about 115 to 460 miles above the earth. It officially is called a transtage but receives its nickname from its ability to shift orbits with ease. Major goal was to test the Titan 3. But it also packed three satellites considered bonus experiments.

One satellite carried simulated human tissue to study radiation hazards in the Van Allen Belt; the second was to help the Air Force calibrate the radars in its worldwide satellite tracking system; the third was a dummy chunk of metal.

The 15-foot "switch engine" is the fourth stage of the Titan 3. It officially is called a transtage, but receives its nickname from its ability to change orbits and shift payloads all over the sky.

The transtage was to ignite a first time to provide the final thrust to drill itself into an orbit ranging from about .5 to 460 miles high.

Fifty-five minutes after launching, the second transtage ignition was to circularize the course so that both high and low points were 460 miles and the radar calibration sphere was to be kicked free.

After about 90 minutes of flight, the third ignition was to place transtage in an orbit extending from 460 to 4,600 miles and separate the radiation-sensing satellite.

St. Joseph Firm Awarded Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department announced award of a $1,619,082 contract to Bushman Construction Co., St. Joseph, Mo., to build about 46 miles of irrigation canals, laterals and drains on the Almena unit in Kansas.

New Headway To Balance US Deficit

Solid Improvement In $1.3 Billion Deficit for 1965

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler told the nation's business managers today the United States is making further headway this second half of 1965 in cutting down its balance of payments deficit.

"We expect the improvement to continue in 1966," Fowler said in a speech prepared for the semiannual meeting of the Business Council.

And, he continued, "we intend and expect that it will continue for as long as necessary to bring our payments into an equilibrium."

Fowler tempered his optimistic forecast by saying the low rate of deficits — $1.3 billion — achieved in the first half of 1965 may not be achieved in the second. He cited as one reason increased tourist spending abroad. But, he said, exports in July and August were substantially better than earlier in the year and imports, which had been rising faster than exports, may be flattening out.

Anything near a $1.3-billion deficit for the year, he said in summary, would be a very solid improvement over the 1964 deficit of $3.1 billion.

In speaking of the deficit problem — the fact that more dollars are leaving the country than are coming in — Fowler made an appeal to the top industrialists gathered here.

Chief Miller In Conference Panel Talk

Sedalia Chief of Police William E. Miller will participate in a panel discussion at a specialized FBI law enforcement conference Monday in Jefferson City. The conference was announced by Special Agent in Charge Karl W. Dissly of the Kansas City FBI office.

The conference, entitled "Responsibilities of Law Enforcement," is designed to highlight the tremendous responsibilities facing all levels of law enforcement at the present time and how the profession can better equip itself to handle these matters.

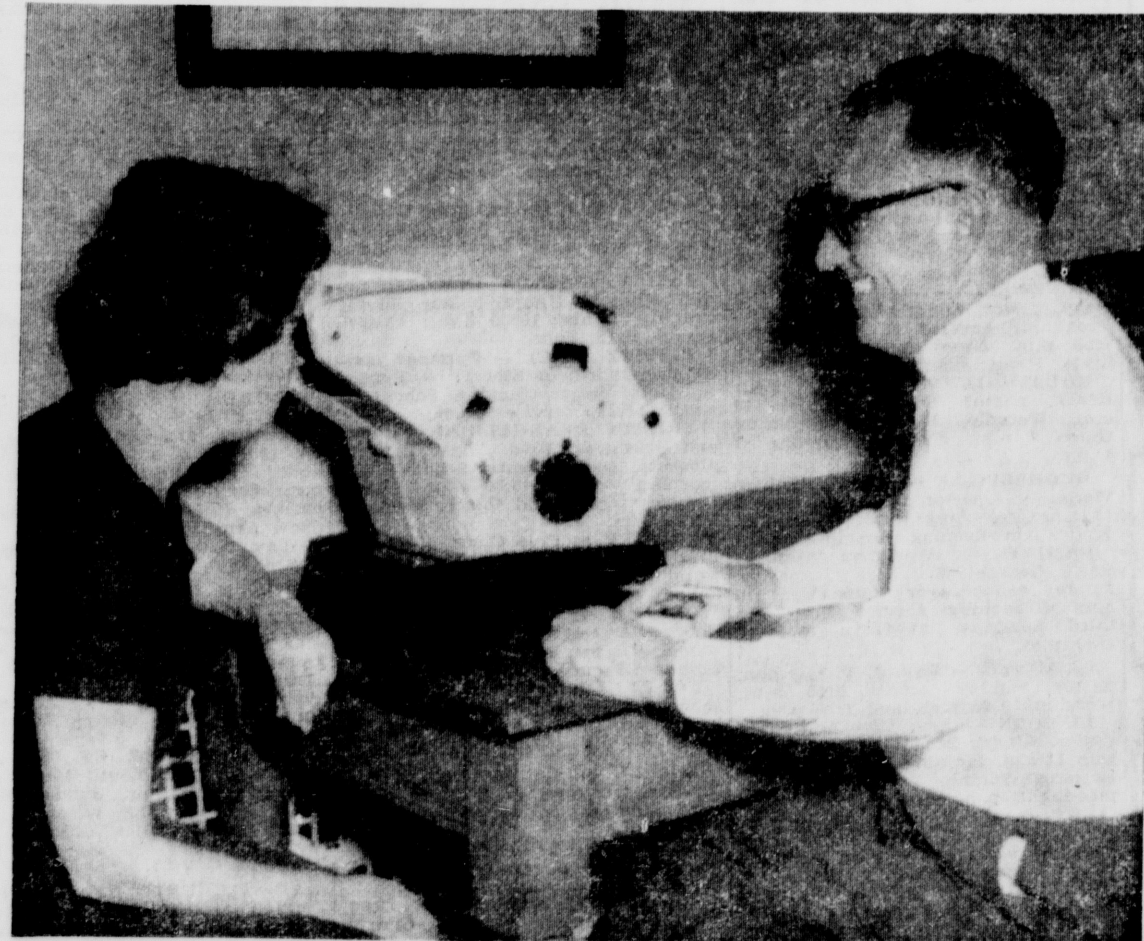

According to Dissly, the conference will be attended by representatives of the FBI and law enforcement agencies in this area, including Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax. The meeting is being held in connection with a series of several conferences throughout the nation between now and Nov. 30.

Miller said Assistant Chief Charles Knapp and approximately three officers, as yet unnamed, will attend the session.

Prominent men in the law enforcement field in this state will attend and share the speaker's platform.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover stated that the scheduled conferences are in line with President Johnson's desire that Federal assistance be given local law enforcement in its never-ending fight against the criminal world.

Seminars will be held in an attempt to determine the best approach in obtaining the cooperation of the public and to impress upon law enforcement officers that they not only must be right, but also must look right.

FIRST VISION TESTS GIVEN—Arval Houchens, Sedalia, one of Missouri's new drivers license vision examiners, gave the first tests here Thursday under the new state law requiring eye examinations upon renewal of operator's and chauffeur's licenses. Here he administers the test to Mrs. Kenzie Miller, wife of deputy collector of revenue Kenzie Miller who is in charge of the License Bureau in the courthouse here. Houchens will be here to give examinations on Monday afternoons, all day Wednesday, all day Friday, Saturday morning and all day on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month. He will also be the examiner in Cooper County giving tests at Booneville all day each Tuesday and all day on the first, third and fifth Thursdays. Included in the relatively simple examination are identification of rows of letters in diminishing size and a test of depth perception by observing a panel of highway markers and traffic control signs.

A Brief History of The First Baptist Church

Baptists came to Sedalia during the Civil War. The thriving town of Sedalia attracted the attention of Rev. B. T. Brown, a Pennsylvania native, who set out to organize a Baptist Church in Sedalia in his work as a missionary to the district. A meeting was called in the Presbyterian Church, and 19 persons became charter members. Rev. Brown was named pastor. Members set their energies to providing a church building, and two lots were obtained on Lamine near Fourth, one lot being a gift from General George R. Smith, Sedalia's founder. A frame meeting house, 50 by 36 feet, was dedicated at a cost of $5,500. A Sunday School came into existence soon after the church began its work. Two lots were purchased at today's site, Sixth and Lamine, in 1889 and a new and larger church building was started in September, 1891, and was dedicated in February, 1893. In 1920 it became necessary to remove the church steeple as a safety precaution.

Dr. Thomas W. Croxton came to the pastorate and helped in the starting of a mission at 16th and Hancock in 1948. This mission became the New Hope Baptist Church in 1957. Dr. Croxton, the only former pastor still living, will preach during the morning worship hour Sunday, October 17. The present pastor, the Rev. J. R. Wallace began his work with the church in 1957. A new parsonage was purchased at 1504 West Fifth.

From 19 charter members in 1865, the church membership has grown to 1531 at the present time. A well-rounded educational and musical program has begun to take shape. Mr. Raymond G. Hall is the minister in charge of music and Christian Education.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a divorcee with a 17-year-old son I have raised alone. I asked his father to please leave when the boy was seven years old.

I was always proud of the job I did as a mother. David is an excellent student, a gifted musician, and popular with both boys and girls. He is self-reliant and never complains because my work takes me away from home five or six days at a time.

A few days ago I was cleaning the apartment and I did something I have never done before. I turned David's mattress—and I wish I hadn't. Under the mattress I found 15 magazines of nudes. A further search of the room turned up about 50 additional nudes. What makes me sick, Ann, is that the pictures were of males, not females.

I divorced his father because he was a homosexual. Can the sickness be inherited? — DESPERATE.

Dear Desperate: No. The problem is not hereditary. It is a psychological disturbance and it calls for professional treatment.

Ask your family doctor to suggest a counselor for the boy and don't lose any time.

Dear Ann Landers: I am appalled by bits and pieces of conversations I've been hearing lately. Here are some samples:

Mrs. A.: "Our son and daughter are driving from Oregon to New York next week. They won't have to spend a dime for food or hotels. They've written to friends along the way."

Mrs. B.: "My husband and I are going through the Mayo Clinic next month. The folks who used to live next door moved to Rochester five years ago. We're going to write and ask if we can stay with them."

Mrs. C.: "Our daughter's husband is being transferred to Toledo next month. Can they stay with your sister while they are house hunting?"

Ann, my husband and I have traveled extensively and we wouldn't dream of calling friends or relatives to ask for free housing. Is something the matter with us? — LITTLE ROCK READER.

Dear Reader: SOMEWHERE there must be people who just love to have folks move in with them. I don't happen to be one of those people but then maybe something is wrong with me.

Those who go only where they are invited invariably enjoy friendships that last longer.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 16-year-old girl who is baby-sitting and starving. I arrived on the job at 8 o'clock. My boy friend came at 8:30 to keep me company.

We both get three good meals a day at home but that's not enough for growing teenagers. Right now we are chewing on our nails because there isn't a thing in this house to eat. Don't you think it is rotten not to leave some snacks for the sitter?

Please print your answer in the paper. I know this lady reads your column because once she clipped out a letter about sitters who talk on the phone a lot and she left it where I would see it.—HUNGRY H.

Dear H.: Most women leave a soft drink or some fruit for the sitter. This is a nice practice but the woman doesn't owe your refreshments.

You are hired to sit. Kiddo, not eat. If you must have nourishment at frequent intervals, bring something from home—especially since you seem to be entertaining guests on the job.

Safety On Highway Is Lions Topic

The Sedalia Lions Club at their regular meeting Wednesday noon heard a talk on highway safety given by Sgt. Charles S. Endicott, Highway Patrol Safety Officer from Lee's Summit.

District Gov. Elton Overly, of Missouri Multiple District 26-G, Lions International, made his official visit to the Sedalia Club, and reported on the Eye Tissue Bank at the University of Missouri Medical Center, which is sponsored by the Missouri Lions.

Gov. Overly, in his report, said that since the bank was first started five years ago, operations and transplants of eyes at the Center have made it possible for 83 persons to see again, their sight having been restored.

In his report he also said that the 1965-66 budget for the Center from the Missouri Lions would be $60,000, or District G's portion would amount to approximately $8,000.

He also touched briefly on the membership situation in the district and urged the Sedalia Club to bring up their membership as well as attendance.

Addison "Ad" Taylor, chairman of the membership committee, gave a report on the local club.

Neil Chapman announced the Sedalia Symphony orchestra will have its first program of the year on Monday night, Oct. 18. Dorothy Coulter, well known soprano, will be the guest artist. This is also the 30th anniversary of the orchestra and of Abe Rosenthal as its director.

William Bunn, chairman of the Sedalia Lions Club Governor's Recreational Committee, reported on a visit to Jefferson City recently of the committee, along with members of the Pettis County Court in reference to a recreational area south of Sedalia. "We feel the trip was successful and should be hearing more about this project later," Bunn said.

James Glenn, program chairman, introduced Sgt. Endicott, who spoke on traffic safety on the highways. Endicott told of Missouri's ever increasing traffic deaths with the 1964 total in Missouri being 1,293, an all time high.

Endicott explained that one of the prime violations and causes of accidents is where a motorist is driving on the wrong side of the road. He said 30 per cent of the accidents involve individuals who had been drinking.

The Sergeant further explained that 54 per cent of the accidents result on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with Saturday having the most. Tuesdays, he explained, have the least accidents, due to less congestion on the highways. The greatest percentage of accidents occur at dusk or the twilight period of the day. Motorist should turn their headlights on at that time, but better still, drive with them on at all times. It is for the motorist who is approaching you to benefit from the fact his attention is called to a car with headlights burning at day light hours. The least accidents occur between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock in the morning.

Introducing three new Volkswagens.

The rumors you've heard about a couple of new Volkswagens are true. There they are, on the right.

The rumors you've heard about the beetle biting the dust are false. There it is, at the bottom of it all.

We're calling the Volkswagen on top the Fastback Sedan because the roof has kind of a nice slope to it. It holds five in style.

We're calling the Volkswagen in the middle the Squareback Sedan because its roof has no slope at all. It holds five, too. With less style, maybe, but with more extra space than most sedans, even great big ones.

Looks aside, the Fastback and the Squareback are identical cars, and as Volkswagens as can be.

Their engines are a touch more powerful than the beetle's, but still in back and still air-cooled.

And they have a few advanced features of their own, like disc brakes in front, which most cars don't have yet.

The Fastback and the Squareback offer a little more room and a little more power for a little more money.

The Fastback will set you back $2278.80. The Squareback, $2433.80. So if you want a Volkswagen that doesn't look like a Volkswagen, it will cost you a little more.

The Volkswagen that does look like a Volkswagen will still sell for about the same old price. $1723.80.

And it will still have the same old look.

But it's actually the newest car of the lot, there are 23 changes for 1966, all inside.

The biggest change is that the engine is 25% more powerful than last year. It makes a surprising difference in pickup with no surprising difference in mileage, you can still count on about 29 miles per gallon!

The other 22 changes do what Volkswagen changes have always done, they make the car work even better and last even longer.

And they don't do what VW changes have never done: they never make it go out of style.

We know that this system works for the beetle, it is the 6th best-selling car model in America this year.

We hope that it will work out just as well for the Fastback and the Squareback, too. Because we don't intend to change their looks every year, either.

We went to a lot of trouble to make all the new Volkswagens as good as they are.

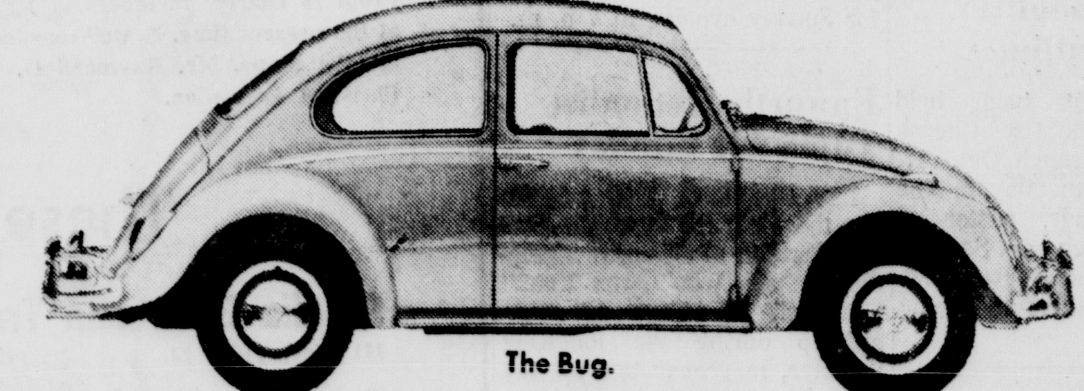

We hope you'll have a lot of trouble deciding which one to buy.

The Fastback.

The Squareback.

The Bug.

Ancient Flea Training Art Is Dying Out

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — The ancient art of flea training is dying out, reports one of the last flea circus directors of West Germany, Peter Mathes of Nuernberg.

One of the reasons for this is the personal freshness of modern man, he claims.

Mathes, part-time ringmaster of a minuscule circus but usually a mechanic, complains, in common with most West German employers, of an acute staff shortage.

"The personnel shortage is one of my biggest problems," he says.

"Modern living conditions and especially sleeping facilities are simply unbearable for fleas.

"You just cannot get fleas from private people any more — only from scientific institutes."

The art of training fleas is at least 500 years old according to Mathes, who says a medieval English monk was burned at the stake because he knew how to tame fleas, an art then considered witchcraft.

But, because of the flea shortage, the day of the flea circus is nearly over, he says, adding that besides his there are only two others operating in West Germany.

Mathes inherited the secrets of flea-training from his uncle Roloff Ottowa, who took his troupe all over the world. His uncle even presented shows to Queen Victoria of England, Kaiser Josef of Austria and Pope Leo XIII, Mathes says.

On engaging a couple of dozen artists from a scientific institute that breeds fleas he puts a minute thread around the neck of each one, to prevent them from escaping.

Mathes trains his menagerie to perform great feats.

Some can drag objects up to 300 grams in weight, draw tiny brass coaches and turn a carousel, while others juggle a little ball, which they can throw a distance of about 8 inches.

Mathes says that one of the most important tricks of the flea circus trade is proper feeding of the fleas who give their best performance when supplied three times a day with fresh human blood.

Mathes' performers drink their fill for an hour on his arm, but they don't require much.

Easter Seal Area Volunteers Hear Speaker

Mrs. Jessie Wheeler, St. Louis, field representative for Missouri Society for Crippled Children and Adults (Easter Seal Society) gave the program for Pettis County Society Oct. 13 at an area dinner meeting at Bothwell Hotel.

Mrs. Wheeler showed films illustrating services available to physically handicapped through efforts of Easter Seal volunteers.

"Ninety per cent of the money raised in Missouri during the annual Easter Seal campaign remains in our state for the rehabilitation of our indigent physically handicapped population," Mrs. Wheeler emphasized.

Attending the meeting were: Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher, president of Pettis County Society, who was recently recognized with a silver lily pin in recognition of 25 years' service to Easter Seal Society; Dr. David Robinson, Mrs. Thomas Yount and Mrs. Robert Johns, Sedalia and Mr. and Mrs. Don Harrison, Versailles.

Mrs. Harrison was given a silver lily for 25 years' volunteer service recently. Mrs. Johns will be honored this year for continuous service as a volunteer in the Pettis County program.

This was shown again when India and Pakistan fought over Kashmir. Both big powers were determined to stop a conflict which, in their view, could benefit only Red China. The Security Council acted unanimously, forcing India and Pakistan to agree to a truce under the threat of economic boycotts.

The cease-fire has been broken fitfully, but major fighting has stopped.

Keeping the peace along a 1,000-mile cease-fire line poses a formidable problem for some 200 U.N. military observers.

But the United Nations has dealt with tougher problems in 20 years of police and watchdog actions. Not counting the Korean War, these have involved 35,000 men from more than 50 nations at a cost of nearly half a billion dollars.

U.N. peacekeeping has fallen into two main categories: preventive diplomacy to keep disputes from exploding into shooting wars, and international police action to keep local wars from expanding.

The police actions began in June 1950 when the Security Council authorized the defense of South Korea against attack by the Communist North. The measure escaped veto because the Soviet Union was boycotting the council at the time.

Sixteen countries under the blue and white U.N. banner went to the aid of the South Korean army, but the United States with 350,000 troops in the field made up 90 per cent of the U.N. force. Washington also put up $18 billion to cover most of the bill. The other U.N. participants paid only the salaries and rations of their own troops.

The Russians, on their return, accused the Security Council of acting illegally and challenged the body's right to help South Korea.

One result was the uniting for peace resolution adopted by the General Assembly in November 1950. This provided for calling an emergency session of the assembly on 24-hour notice if the council was hamstrung by a veto.

The uniting for peace idea was invoked in November 1956 when Israel, Britain and France invaded the Suez Canal zone after Egypt took over the waterway. Britain and France vetoed council action. Yugoslavia invoked action in the assembly, which asked the late Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to raise the first peacekeeping force from 10 nations to stand vigil along the frontier between Egypt and Israel. The cost of maintaining this force — 6,000 men at its peak — ran to about $17.5 million a year.

Blue-helmeted troops of the U.N. emergency force still patrol the desolate border.

The force served as a model for the police force dispatched to the chaotic Congo in 1960 at the request of the late Congolese Premier Pricie Lumumba, who later denounced the operation.

The council set up the U.N. operation for the Congo which grew to a force of 20,000 men representing 19 nations. This force went on a combat footing in January 1963 when it launched an offensive against troops of Moise Tshombe's breakaway Katanga Province, but otherwise it served as a peace-keeping force.

The operation, which finally ended in the spring of 1964, cost more than $10 million a month and plunged the United Nations $100 million into debt. The Soviet Union soured on the project, after originally approving it.

The Soviet bloc, France and several other nations refused to pay their share of either the Middle East or Congo operations.

That made the United Nations chary about financing another peacekeeping operation when civil war erupted on Cyprus in 1964.

The council gave Secretary-General U Thant the job of mustering a force to keep apart the warring Turkish and Greek Cypriot factions. When Thant sought authority to draw on general U.N. revenues if contributions failed to meet general running expenses, both France and the Soviet Union insisted that it be financed entirely by voluntary contributions. No one seemed inclined to debate the point.

The 7,000-man, six-nation Cyprus force became the first large-scale peacekeeping operation financed by passing the hat among member nations. The force has cost $41 million so far. It still operates on the Mediterranean island.

Less well-known than the police actions, but of significance, have been mediation efforts.

In 1947, a six-nation U.N. commission for Indonesia was set up to help arrange for Indonesian independence from the Netherlands.

A watchdog commission was set up in the Balkans as Communist nations of Eastern Europe began taking a hand in the Greek civil war.

In 1948, when the marathon dispute between India and Pakistan over Kashmir first arose, the Security Council established a three-nation India-Pakistan commission. For the past 17 years, U.N. observers have patrolled a truce line. Until the latest conflict broke out, the operation had cost upward of $11 million.

In 1947-49, Count Folke Bernadotte and, after his assassination, U.N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche served as mediators to end the war between Israel and the Arab states. An observer staff has kept watch in the troubled area ever since, at a cost of about $26 million.

The United Nations has encountered different problems in each of its police actions.

In Korea, a nation was defended against outside aggression. In the Congo, a police force was needed to preserve the unity of a country. In the Middle East, soldiers and observers were needed to patrol cease-fire lines. In Cyprus, a

Police Schedule Benefit Dance For Nov. 19

A benefit dance at the Agriculture Building on the State Fairgrounds will be sponsored Nov. 19 by the Sedalia Police Officers Association, it was announced today. Dancing, to the music of the Comets, will be from 9 p.m. to midnight and officers will operate a concession.

Last year's dance was held to purchase new uniforms, holsters and belts for policemen and previous dances aided officers in purchasing needed articles used in their job.

This year, however, the dance will benefit the policemen's annual Children's Christmas Tree party at the police station as funds for this project are nearly depleted and officers cannot solicit donations under the merit system of administration.

"Monies derived from this dance will be used to finance the Christmas tree party for the children 100 per cent with any balance being used by the police officers to purchase shirts, collar pins and other equipment not furnished by the department," a spokesman for the police group said.

She alleges her husband, William C. Haderman, purchased an accidental death, injury and hospitalization policy from the company on Oct. 4, 1960, naming her as the beneficiary. On Oct. 8, 1962, she relates in the petition, her husband received a penicillin injection while suffering from a common cold. The injection, it is alleged, resulted in an anaphylactic reaction, a mucopurulent blockage of the larynx and his death, but she contends the insurance firm has refused to pay the $2,000 insurance death benefit.

The plaintiff is represented by Wendell P. Allen, a Maumee, Ohio attorney, and the Sedalia law firm of Lamm, Barnett, Crawford and Barnes.

GOP Toasts Eisenhower On Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans assembled in 28 cities to toast Dwight D. Eisenhower on his 75th birthday saluted his former president with a bristling attack on the present one, Lyndon B. Johnson.

And Eisenhower, himself, spoke scornfully Thursday night of legislation "bullied through just by political power."

The birthday anniversary of the last Republican president was a time to raise high the GOP banner, scorn the Democrats — and pour up to $100 a plate into depleted party coffers.

Eisenhower attended none of the dinners, celebrating instead with his four grandchildren in Phoenixville, Pa. But a 15-minute film carried this and other remarks to the diners across the country.

"The laws a nation lives by have to be hammered out by debate, by thoughtful discussion and by give and take. They cannot be bullied through just by political power."

"In legislation, it is not how many laws you pass, it is how many good laws you pass."

The power theme — that the Democrats, led by the White House, are too prone to its use — was sounded also by Barry Goldwater, party chairman Ray

United Funds And Boy Scouting

Why Boy Scouts and United Fund? Do not the boys support themselves? Does this money from United Fund go to troops, packs and explorer units over town? Why a Boy Scout drive anyway? These are questions asked by people and answered by United Fund and the Scouting organization each year, but as they continue to be asked, answers must be given.

First, Scouting is not a recreational organization. Boys have fun, but all boys in or out of Scouting have fun. Basically, it is educational in nature and its essential purpose is character building. More, it is a movement more than an organization.

Who reaps the rewards from the Scouting movement? Boys engaged in it reap great rewards in what they learn and in being a part of learning through adventure; but there is good evidence that the community also reaps rewards.

These are the boys who grow into manhood without difficulty and who are better capable of taking their places of leadership in the community. The community benefits in such a character building organization that can show evidence of success.

Why the cost to the community? Because it is the community that benefits. The boy pays his own way into a pack, troop or unit. He buys his own uniform and pays his own dues. The units are self-supporting, in that they do not wish financial support from the sponsoring institution such as church, club or school. They make their own money for equipment. The money goes to train leaders.

This kind of movement must have the finest leadership available. An executive must be in each district, such as Mike Ballard to keep leaders recruited and trained for units. Without such a person, scouting goes down.

An office must be maintained in the district to keep records and to give information that is needed. The paid staff is essential, and without it units would not have this man-making organization. Who provides this leadership? The community. It reaps the benefits, and we should share in the cost.

Why United Fund? Because it is the fair way with all who benefit, assuming a part of the cost. Also, because a separate campaign would cost Scouting in time and money, and would cause the community more difficulty. But because the United Way did not raise enough money last year for the bare expenses of the Boy Scout Council, Scouting in Sedalia-Pettis County had to go out on a separate drive to raise additional funds.

Who is Scouting in Sedalia-Pettis County? First, it is over 1,000 boys from eight-year-old Cubs to 18-year-old explorers who are in the Boy Scout organization in this area. It is Michael L. Ballard, the District Scout Executive that lives in Sedalia and works this District. It is Lacy Belt, Internal Revenue agent, Chairman of District Committee. It is Bill Phillips, manager of the Bell Telephone Company here, who also acts as District Commissioner in Scouting.

It is the Scout leaders, from Den Mothers to Scout Masters and Committeemen for each unit, there being 30 units, packs, troops and posts in the County. But most of all, it is boys. Boys for whom every citizen in Sedalia and Pettis County are responsible. The only way Scouting can be available is that each community supports the movement enough to provide professional as well as volunteer leaders.

Movie Plots Get Wilder Than Ever

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movie plots are wilder than ever. Now they've got Frank Sinatra pulling a million-dollar heist on the Queen Mary via a submarine.

That is the essential plot of "Assault on a Queen," which is being filmed under the joint auspices of Sinatra Enterprises, Seven Arts and Paramount.

Sinatra says, "It's a good story and a forerunner in the field of far-out plots; the book has been laying around for 10 years."

"But listen, you can get away with these stories — if you hook the audience in the first eight to twelve minutes. And if you keep moving fast. And we move fast in this one, believe me."

I believed him. You need only to watch Sinatra at work to understand the swiftness of his operation.

"What are we waiting for?" he asks when there is a lull in shooting. "Let's get moving."

A lull gave me a chance to inquire about current and future plans of the phenomenon known as Sinatra.

"On Thanksgiving Eve I'll have a special on television," he reported. "A week before that, CBS is putting on the World of Frank Sinatra. They've been following me around for six months, shooting everything I do, almost."

"Then a couple of weeks ago Walter Cronkite came down to Palm Springs and taped a long interview. That guy is great, you know. I think he's the best of the newscasters, a real reporter who can dig in an interview and come up with interesting questions. A real gentleman, too."

"That will be the format of the show: the interview, with flashbacks to film that has been taken."

After "Assault on a Queen," Sinatra will play his usual three weeks at his Las Vegas base, the Sands. Then in January he plans to film "Any Wednesday," the Broadway hit comedy about a tycoon who maintains a girl-equipped apartment which he visits midweek.

"Sandy Dennis, who played the role on Broadway, will be the girl," said Sinatra, "and we've signed R. J. (Robert) Wagner for the boy's part. I'm hoping to get Deborah Kerr to play my wife. She'd be great for it."

Does he plan a marriage to Mia Farrow during his lull in filming next year? He didn't say, and he had to return to the scene before I got a chance to ask. Thank heaven.

Full Time Job

Bible Translators Work To Reach Untaught Tribes

WAXHAW, N.C. (AP) — The "air force" of a missionary group which devotes its full time to translating the Bible for jungle tribes has its international headquarters here.

"Our general objective is to go to the tribes in the world that have no written languages, reduce these languages to written form and translate the Bible into them," says Harold L. Goodall.

The missionary group is the Wycliffe Bible Translators, Inc., named after English missionary John Wycliffe. Its aviation and communication arm is the Jungle Aviation and Radio Service, known as Jaars.

Goodall, 36, is the director at Waxhaw, 15 miles south of Charlotte.

"This work started in Mexico 30 years ago," he says. "Since then we have branched out to 25 different countries and 300 different languages."

Wycliffe Translators was founded in 1934 by W. Cameron Townsend, present general director. Townsend quit Occidental College in Los Angeles in 1917, when he was 21, and went to Guatemala to distribute Spanish-language Bibles.

He decided to switch his efforts from Bible distribution to translation when a Guatemala Indian said, "Why, if your God is so smart, hasn't he learned our language?"

Townsend spent 15 years learning the language of Guatemala's Cakchiquel tribe, and went on to found Wycliffe Translators with a missionary friend, Leonard Letgers. Jaars came into existence when the work spread to Peru.

One of the main responsibilities of the center is training personnel. Four radio men, three pilots and three aviation mechanics are enrolled in the current three-month session. A motel-like dormitory is being constructed to house the personnel and their families, now quartered in an old home.

The center also is responsible for repairing radio equipment and airplanes. It has a hangar and communications facilities for contacting distant outposts, including Peru, by radio teletype.

It has a dirt airstrip, which Goodall says "is more than we need" for training purposes. Goodall and his wife started working for Wycliffe as translators in Peru in 1948. She now serves as his secretary.

"One couple can go in and prepare materials to train a whole tribe," the director said. "Our folks can communicate very well in about two years," he said. "Then they start serious translation." The first book of the Bible takes about five years, he said. "We hope the entire New Testament can be finished in 15 years."

Goodall said about six translators have finished the New Testament and moved to new responsibilities. "Finishing a New Testament is like getting a Ph.D.," he said. "They are made consultants to help others."

Goodall said there are now more than 1,700 Wycliffe translators working in 18 countries on more than 370 languages or dialects.

"Each member is responsible for his own support," he said. The bulk of the support comes from individual churches, often in a member's home town.

The Wycliffe Translator motto is "two thousand tongues to go," as stated by Townsend 30 years ago when he discovered there were 2,000 languages for which there was no translation of the Bible.

Plague of Book Thievery

Some time ago we read an item that was rather astounding — 14,000 books valued at $40,000 had been stolen in five years from the Joplin library.

These figures may have been inflated but at least there must have been major concern about the problem because a unique method was adopted to discourage the ingenuity of determined book-stealers. Over a three-month period all material in the library was treated with a device which deposited a harmless electric charge on the article.

When books are properly checked out the charge is removed by a deactivating contrivance at the desk. But if the charge has not been removed and a book-stealer tries to get away, two detector posts at the door sound a buzzer and a red light blinks at the check-out desk.

One can imagine the effect this would have on the decorous atmosphere within a library, but the cost of renting such equipment is much less than hiring a guard to quietly collar a thief.

Many libraries throughout the country are plagued with book thievery. We are informed the ones in Sedalia are not. Occasionally, yes, but more of a perplexing condition here is the willful destruction or defacement of books and magazines. This is something with which the most alert librarian and staff members everywhere have to contend continuously.

Perhaps some inventive genius may devise a method comparable to that which discourages book thievery, perfection of a method to sound an alarm when a vandal gets an urge to mutilate books and magazines.

However, even vandalism is not too significant in Sedalia's libraries. This is prideful news and a credit to the behavior of all those patrons who use the service, children and adults alike.

May their moral restraint become habitual.

Lag in Transfer of President's Powers

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's swift recovery from his gall bladder operation probably takes much of the steam out of efforts to gain quicker state approval of a constitutional amendment covering presidential inability.

Yet the discussion which swirled up when his need for an operation was announced suggests that the country is seriously handicapped without this new constitutional provision.

The amendment provides, of course, for transfer of the president's powers and duties to the vice president in any instance of presidential inability. It also authorizes procedures for return of power to the president when the inability has ended.

The way things are going, however, it could easily be 1967 before this proposal wins the necessary approval of 38 of the 50 states.

Only eight have endorsed it so far. The opportunity to act confronts another handful in the remainder of 1965. Legislatures in Rhode Island, New Jersey and Delaware are still in regular session. Alabama and California have special sessions under way, and Indiana and Arkansas may join this list.

Some 15 states meet in regular session next year, but four of these already have approved the amendment. A few others will be holding budget sessions, which might or might not be enlarged to permit action on the proposal.

The rest of the legislatures will not convene their next regular biennial sessions until 1967. Barring a flock of special sessions, the inability proposition can hardly be enacted before that time.

One state government specialist, annoyed that more legislatures do not meet annually, says: "The nation is precluded from acting to protect itself because so many states hold themselves to biennial sessions."

Former Vice President Richard Nixon told this reporter in recent conversation that special state sessions should indeed be

The Water Quality Act

"In ten years the Potomac River will be safe for swimming," said President Johnson as he signed the Water Quality Act. In reviewing the eight month effort to enhance the nation's natural beauty, he asked that the Potomac be designated as the national river.

Perhaps children will sing again "Where Potomac's streams are flowing, Virginia's borders through; Where the white sailed ships are going; Sailing to the ocean blue."

Making the Potomac a national river would give the waterway the status it deserves as the river serving the nation's capital. With the Potomac free from pollution and restoring it as a water playground, it is hoped that other rivers and lakes will be revitalized in scenic beauty and water safety.

The federal government cannot do the job alone. State, county and municipal governments will have to start thinking about their own rivers. They will need garbage and sewage disposal plants to take care of the refuse which is now dumped into their rivers. The people will have to visualize the fun they can have in clean and beautiful rivers and other recreation water sources, before this phase of beautifying America can be accomplished.

So Where Do We Go From Here?

The World Today

Seek Effective State Rights Roles

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH
WASHINGTON (AP) — Since its formation, this country has wrestled with the issue of states' rights.

But through the years, ironically, relatively scant attention has been paid to the states themselves — their organizations, strengths and weaknesses.

Such a study has been under way since April at Duke University, led by former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina and financed by funds from the Ford and Carnegie Foundations.

The two-year project, known as "A Study of American States," is simply aimed at finding out what the states can do to play a more effective role in the American system of government.

The goal is not to weaken the federal government but to find ways to strengthen the states.

One of the study's first findings was that states do a great deal more than most people realize.

They pass most laws, run most courts and prisons, control most public school and university education, build roads, operate hospitals, regulate banking and control major areas of taxation, from the personal to corporate levels.

States have doubled their expenditures in the last decade — to $42.6 billion in 1964 — and are spending more every year for education, welfare and highway construction.

Why, then, has the federal government been the initiator of so much sweeping legislation?

"It is when the states fail to fulfill their role in such areas as education, civil rights and liberties, enhancing the opportunities for the poor, that the federal government moves into the vacuum," Sanford said in a recent speech.

"There is too quick a tendency to blame the federal government for our own shortcomings and the courts for our own lack of responsibility. The new voting rights bill and the reapportionment decisions should have never been necessary. That they occurred is more a sign of state neglect than federal usurpation of authority."

In addition, the former governor said "the fact is that some who have argued loudest and shrillest for states' rights have done more to undermine that right than anyone else. Those few have used the term as a shield against responsible action."

When the government does step in, its federally oriented programs frequently miss their mark.

The only solution, argues Sanford, is to increase the effectiveness of the states. Long range master plans must be developed, tax structures must be revised and states must be made more creative.

The basic problem seems to be that too often governors are unable to carry out their responsibilities because of inadequate resources, an apathetic public and the generally poor image of state government.

Ineffective gubernatorial leadership actually means a weaker federal system, says Sanford, and thereby a lesser level of service for the people of the states.

Unlike most academic studies, promises Sanford, his project will come out not only with a description of the governor's role in the states but also with "a solid set of recommendations which can be discussed all over the country."

Izvestia Criticizes New Public Baths

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government paper Izvestia indignantly said that public baths — which the Russians are very fond of — being built now aren't as good as those dating from czarist times. Izvestia accused architects and builders of putting in big vestibules for show but skimping on the actual facilities. It said that often drainage is faulty, equipment old and cleaning slipshod.

pigeons roost. They seem to be afraid of snakes. — ELSIE

DEAR POLLY — My letter is for the pigeon hater. Hang foil plates (those frozen foods come in) to the beams or place where the birds nest. This worked for my uncle. — KAYE

DEAR POLLY — We keep sparrows out of the garage and the vines over a bedroom window by tying bags of moth crystals from the rafters in the garage and to the wire the vine climbs on. This also works for bats and mice and I feel sure it would work with pigeons.

When the odor evaporates put up more bags filled with fresh crystals. Be sure that the crystals contain 100 per cent Para Dichlorobenzene. — MRS. J. S.

DEAR POLLY — I got little boards, the length of the top of the porch columns, and nailed them slantwise on the tops of the columns. The pigeons could still manage to cling a little but it was hard for them to do. When they laid eggs, the eggs rolled off and broke. Hay for the nests also slid off so the pigeons were frustrated and left. The boards were painted white like the columns and are scarcely noticeable. — MRS. G. M.

GIRLS — I was amazed at the number of people who are annoyed with pigeons — if one can judge by the number of letters received. Thanks to all of you.

Mothballs were the most widely recommended but an exterminator advised that Mrs. J. S.'s suggestion of moth crystals was better. He also had an idea similar to that sent by Mrs. G. M. and said such slanting boards placed over window sills usually work well. Kaye's suggestion probably worked because of the movement of the plates rather than the glitter. This problem might be better solved for one person one way and another for someone else, so take your choice. There are commercial products available and the sticky ones could be applied to a board painted like the wood it is placed on. If the problem persists, after trying these suggestions, it may be necessary to call a pest control operator. So long to your pigeons, no matter how they go. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — One year when we were packing for a camping trip, we found that blankets packed in a box took up more room than we could spare so, after a lot of thought, we came up with the idea of folding the blankets to fit across the back seat of the car and our children sat on them. They enjoyed this because it made them higher and they could see out the windows better. The blankets took up none of our needed packing space. — MRS. R. M.

GIRLS — If the weather is hot, a sheet or cotton quilt could be placed on top of the folded blankets. This might also eliminate complaining about an itchy feeling from contact with the blankets. — POLLY

THE WELL CHILD
For Ulcerative Colitis,
Surgery Is Last StepBy Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Ulcerative colitis is a serious disease at any age. In children it is apt to be more severe than in adults. The cause is unknown. All children with this disease are emotionally disturbed but whether this is the cause, or the result, of the disease is hard to say.

The disease is characterized by chronic diarrhea, with blood and mucus in the stools. Each bowel movement is preceded by abdominal cramps. The victim is always underweight. When the diagnosis is suspected it is readily confirmed by X-rays following a barium enema and by a proctoscopic examination.

If treatment is begun early in its course, it is sometimes possible to avoid operation. A bland diet (no roughage), medicines to soothe the bowel and tranquilizers are given; laxatives must be avoided. Transfusions may be necessary if anemia develops. About 50 per cent of the victims, however, will require operation.

Ileostomy, bringing the lower end of the small intestine out through an abdominal incision, to rest the inflamed colon, was tried for many years but results were disappointing and now most surgeons believe it best to remove the entire colon. Following this operation there is usually a relief of symptoms and a rapid gain in weight.

Q — We have a 2-year-old son with celiac disease who is on a gluten-free diet. What can you tell us about the new enzyme treatment for this disease?

A — Celiac disease is caused by a deficiency of one or more of the digestive enzymes in the intestines. These enzymes are being used experimentally to predigest wheat gluten, the part of the normal diet that causes severe diarrhea in children with this disease. These children are not given the enzyme but are given the predigested product. Encouraging results have been reported, but this treatment is not yet generally available.

Q — Our son was not circumcised when he was born. Our doctor says he doesn't need this operation. Should we take his advice or should we find someone who will perform the operation?

A — Circumcision has become a routine procedure in many hospitals just as removal of the tonsils (a little later in life) was a few years ago. There is, however, a growing feeling among physicians that this operation is unnecessary, has little to recommend it and may even be detrimental except in those infants whose foreskin is extremely tight and cannot be drawn back to facilitate cleaning. You have a progressive doctor — follow his advice.

School and You

Answers Are Never Easy

By Susan Light
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Susan Light

DEAR MRS. LIGHT: I have read your article on the Doman-Delacato program with interest. I have a boy who will be 7 in December. He is left-eyed; in fact, we are thinking of an operation, which we can't afford right now. He has poor co-ordination and a difficult time reading.

Could you tell me if there is a laboratory or school conducting any of the programs in our area? — INTERESTED READER

ANSWER: Call your local Board of Education for the information you want. If they are unable to help you, you might write to the Gesell Institute of Child Development, 310 Prospect, New Haven, Conn., which has a training program for qualified people who are interested in working with dyslexic children.

A word of caution, however. You mention an operation in your letter. If your doctor has recommended this, it would be wise to follow his advice and not go off on another tangent.

The Doman-Delacato program is for a particular type of visual difficulty in which mixed dominance is involved. It's not for EVERY child who has poor co-ordination and a reading problem. No parent or other unqualified person should try to make a diagnosis where a possible medical condition is concerned.

Unfortunately, the treatment of dyslexia in children is sometimes misused or carried to extremes. A lot of children have been helped by such treatment and their parents are understandably grateful. For some children, however, the therapy is a waste of time and money and shouldn't be undertaken unless there is some real assurance of success.

Parents must remember that there are dozens of reasons for reading problems. In one case I know of, a school board member became alarmed when the superintendent went "gung ho" on therapy for dyslexia. In the wake of his enthusiasm, teachers began recommending it for practically every reading problem.

As the board member discovered in researching the subject, many top educators have little use for dyslexia therapy. They believe the problem of mixed dominance can be circumvented by proper methods of teaching reading, which puts the whole thing back squarely in the teachers' laps.

I imagine the real truth lies somewhere in between these conflicting viewpoints.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Yes, as a matter of fact—I am a Republican and I DO belong to the Birch Society!"

Subsidy Program Funds Held

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted to hold up money for starting a rent subsidy program for low-income families. But administration sources expressed confidence today the money will be restored later.

Action by the House came Thursday in passage of a $4.2-billion catch-all appropriation bill that had included $180,000 to start the rent subsidy program and authorize contracts for another $6 million.

Rep. James Harvey, R-Mich., offered the amendment that chopped the money from the bill. He won heavy support from Republicans and some Democrats who had opposed the program earlier this year in enactment of a housing bill.

The roll call vote that knocked the housing subsidy out of the appropriations bill was 185 to 162. The amendment did not affect an appropriation of $170,000 for administrative expenses of the program.

Under the subsidy plan the government would make payments to owners and developers of private housing that would be made available to low-income families. Payments could run as long as 40 years and would be based on the ability of individual tenants to pay the rents from their own income. None of the payments would go to private landlords.

Harvey, in successfully arguing for denial of the money, said tentative regulations could permit persons with large investment incomes to occupy the subsidized housing. He called for a delay until the regulations are clarified.

He denied arguments of opponents that the amendment would kill the program.

Rep. James D. Martin, R-Ala., joining the debate, asserted the program was misrepresented when it was approved June 30 by a vote of 208 to 202 "and still is being misrepresented."

Administration backers of the rent subsidy program said they were confident the funds would be restored by the Senate and the House eventually would approve at least starting money.

The appropriation bill, carrying money for a score of federal agencies, was approved 242 to 100 with no other changes after deletion of the housing subsidy money.

Last minute money requests not considered by the House Appropriations Committee, Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said, may mean addition of $400 million to the catch-all bill by the Senate.

The senior Republican member of the Appropriation Committee, Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio, called the bill "only a small beginning" on costs of "great society" legislation, adding: "We are appropriating today only about 10 per cent of the total initial authorization."

Name 1965 Star Farmer

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Floyd S. Dubben Jr., 21, of Middlefield, N.Y., has been named the 1965 Star Farmer of America, the top award given by the Future Farmers of America.

The young dairy farmer received a $1,000 check from the FFA Foundation when the award was announced Thursday night before an audience of 10,000 at the FFA's 38th national convention.

Dubben was chosen from among four regional star farmers. The other three, who received $500 each, were:

Emmett S. Jobe, 21, Queen Creek, Ariz.; Marvin Hobbs, 21, Walnut Grove, Ill., and R. Keith James, 21, Pond Creek, Okla.

The four finalists were selected from among 394 youths who earned the American Farmer award.

Dubben, father of two children has a half interest in 86 producing milk cows, in partnership with his father.

When he was in the first grade, Floyd's uncle gave him a calf, and he started raising a calf each year after that. By the time he was in high school he

Persecution Days Being Re-lived Now

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

The time is the present, yet the situation is like that of early Christianity, in a land where the environment is alien and the faith is young and warm and bold.

A scene out of that setting, resembling the ancient Roman trials of believers in the first century, forms part of a contemporary drama still unfolding in that remote area today.

"Are you a Christian?" the authorities asked the eight suspects.

"Yes," they answered. "Who baptized you?" "Pastor Pradhan."

The eight were given a chance to recant, but only one did. The others were sent to prison, as was the man who converted them, Prem Pradhan, 40. He was stripped of property and citizenship and sentenced to six years.

That, as related by Methodist Bishop Everett W. Palmer, of Seattle, and others who have been there and obtained first-hand accounts, is part of a continuing story of a "modern Paul," who now is free once more.

The region of Prem Pradhan's work is Nepal, an isolated Hindu-Buddhist kingdom along Asia's Himalayan Mountains, where through the centuries there have been no Christians at all until the mid-1950s.

Now, with its tightly closed culture opening somewhat to the outside, it is a strange, fresh atmosphere for Christianity, which has taken on ways of its past when it was new, in a day when in most places it is old.

It was after he made a parting appeal to King Mahendra, considered a reincarnation of the Hindu god Vishnu, that Prem Pradhan recently was released after serving 4½ years of his term for making converts.

Nepal's law makes it a crime to cause anyone to change his religion, although the law is considered "noncognizable"; that is, it is enforced only if a complaint is made. Some strict Hindus did that in Prem Pradhan's case.

Pradhan's release last June brought general rejoicing among the approximately 500 Christians there, a tiny flock among Nepal's 11 million people. A "welcome and praise meeting" was held for him in Katmandu, the capital.

The infant church of Christ in Nepal has none of the Western divisiveness; it is attached to no denomination; it is a completely indigenous, new church, with about 20 worship places.

Apart from it, about 105 foreign Christian personnel serve in an interdenominational enterprise, the United Mission, started in 1954. It carries on a dozen projects, including hospitals, schools and agricultural work, but under agreement with the government, no direct evangelism.

Soap Opera Invades TV At Night

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Soap opera is easily recognized even when attempts are made to disguise it.

There are, of course, continuing characters and a continued story. More than that, there are the tense emotions—all the continuing characters have their individual problems. Then there is the tendency to sit around and talk and talk and talk about the problems. In daytime soap operas they usually sit around in the kitchen drinking coffee and talking. In the nighttime soap they move around more because the production budget is larger and they have more sets.

There are also some stock situations with which the veteran soap opera watcher is familiar. One is the naive young man mixed up with a scheming sophisticated woman. Another is the fatal accident for which the wrong person is held responsible.

Producers, stars and even the publicists of ABC's "The Long, Hot Summer" have been busily denying for months that the series is basically a soap. They call it a "character dramatic show."

However, this viewer dialed in Thursday night on the windup of a story continued from last week and found that a naive young man was mixed up with a scheming, sophisticated woman and that the wrong person was being held responsible for a fatal accident. And they were talking, talking, talking about it.

It may not be a soap opera, but things seemed pretty sudsy around Frenchman's Bend, the town in which all this was going on.

"The Long, Hot Summer" obviously is considered to be a woman's show—no fist fights or gun play and the commercials are aimed at the feminine consumer. But it may have had tough going Thursday night. Cary Grant was starring in a 1958 feature movie on a rival channel.

"Betwitched," the gay fantasy that spawned so many would be imitators this season, introduced another amusing character Thursday night — A square warlock. Paul Lynde joined the cast as witch Samantha's Uncle Arthur who had a passion for corny jokes and dreadful practi-

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The city council has voted to issue $19 million in bonds — the largest bond sale in Kansas City's history—to finance public improvements.

The public works projects all have been approved by the voters.

Largest of the projects are: Mid-Continent International Airport, $5,400,000.

Trafficways and boulevards, $6,186,000. Water pollution control $5,238,000.

The council voted 9 to 3 in favor of the bond sale. The minority wanted to sell no more than $15.5 million.

cal jokes. Another of the sorcerer relatives is an absent minded witch of an aunt played by Marian Lorne who constantly is messing up her spells and forgetting how to fly through walls.

Fantasy, however, is both extremely delicate and extremely rich. It is best digested when taken in small quantities and not as a regular diet. "Betwitched," seen once a week, is about the limit of this viewer's tolerance. More than that, and it becomes downright boring.

Announce Crop Allotments For Missouri Cotton

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1966 cotton crop planting allotments announced Thursday by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman included Missouri 338,131 acres and Kansas, 14 acres. This compared with 358,317 acres for Missouri in 1965 and 22 acres for Kansas in 1965.

The allotment for the nation will be 16 million acres, the minimum permitted by law.

Freeman also said a grower referendum on continuing marketing quotas to limit sale of the crop will be held Nov. 23.

Under the administration's omnibus farm bill awaiting President Johnson's signature, the department would offer income-maintaining payments to growers planting less than their allotments.

Details of these payments and other provisions of the new cotton program will be announced after the measure becomes law.

Three-Year-Old Boy Is Injured In Blaze

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A 3-year-old boy suffered burns over 30 per cent of his body in a gasoline fire at his home Thursday.

James Doney, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Doney, was reported in serious condition at a hospital. His mother suffered burns on her arms and legs in ripping off the child's clothing.

The father, teaching at the Stoney Point school at the time, said his son apparently tipped a quart of gasoline on himself and the fumes were ignited by a water heater in the basement garage.

Weak LBJ Reaches Milestone

WASHINGTON (AP) — Weak but cheerful, President Johnson reached a minor medical milestone Thursday night — the end of a week's hospitalization for major surgery.

His color and mood seemed good when he got his first airing on a sunny rooftop terrace at Bethesda naval hospital in late afternoon.

He traded hugs and kisses with a pretty young lady — the 2-year-old daughter of one of his top assistants, Jack Valenti.

Johnson was described as in a relaxed mood at dinner later with Mrs. Johnson and some of his staff. He attributed his being around as long as he has to staying grounded when his pilots tell him not to fly and to doing what his doctors tell him to do.

The President was expected to be watching from a hospital window today while Mrs. Johnson and Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall plant an oak tree as a green symbol of the restoration of his strength and well being.

The word from his chief spokesman, Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, was that he is "slowly regaining his strength, that the doctors continue to be pleased with his recovery and satisfied with his progress."

This despite Johnson's having told Moyers he was more tired than he thought he would be and the press secretary's own assessment that "he is weaker than anyone thought."

"I think the pace of the last 20 months has accumulated weariness that was not evident until the operation," Moyers told newsmen Thursday.

The operation last Friday morning removed Johnson's malfunctioning gall bladder and a kidney stone.

From the start, the doctors have said he is making a satisfactory recovery and that gas pains, discomfort and weariness are a normal aftermath.

"So the doctors are in no way alarmed about his progress?" Moyers was asked.

"There is no alarm whatsoever," the press secretary answered.

But neither is there any word when Johnson will get out of the hospital or where he will continue his recuperation.

For the last three days Johnson had no known official visitors and Moyers said he looked for none today.

While Moyers was running through an afternoon briefing

Congressmen Get Look At KKK Empire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation will get an insider's tour of the secret labyrinths of the invisible empire when the congressional hearings into the Ku Klux Klan open Tuesday.

Conducting the tour, sources said, will be Don Appell, chief investigator for the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Appell, who has been probing Klan activities for months, has the assignment of setting the stage for the hearings which will be rife with such mystic nomenclature as klavern, klud, wizard, dragon.

Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, explained: "Because the inquiry would concern the structure, peculiar leadership titles and activities of organizations which are admittedly secret, the hearings will begin with background information designed to assist in better understanding the matters to be developed."

Once this is out of the way the committee is expected to turn the full light of its public hearings on the biggest of all the klans — Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton's United Klans. Later it will take up individually the smaller, sometimes feuding units of the invisible empire.

Willis, who opened the Klan investigation in March, announced Thursday the public hearings will begin Tuesday in the big caucus room of the old Cannon House Office Building.

Willis said that because of the scope of the subject matter the inquiry "will last a considerable length of time."

The committee's investigators are said to have turned up more than 200 witnesses, including klansmen and former klansmen. The committee's staff be-with reporters, Johnson and the First Lady were enjoying the sun on the terrace. Dozens of newsmen and photographers were asked to join them for a few minutes.

In yellow pajamas, black bedroom slippers and sun glasses, the President was semicircling in an aluminum and plastic chaise. At one point Johnson opened his pajama top and displayed a wide bandage on his abdomen.

The Johnsons spent about an hour and a half on the fifth-floor terrace.

Nebraska, Colorado May Win

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Second-ranked Nebraska and fast-improving Colorado are expected to stay unbeaten in Big Eight football Saturday while potent Missouri takes on surprising UCLA at Columbia in a top intercollegiate game.

Nebraska is a top-heavy favorite against Kansas State at Manhattan, but Colorado could have trouble with Iowa State at Boulder. The Cyclones have a lot of talent in the backfield.

Oklahoma and Kansas, both without a victory, collide at Norman. The Sooners should reward the homecoming fans with a victory, but it may be close.

Oklahoma State, playing the toughest opening schedule in Big Eight, takes on Texas Tech at Lubbock in a night game. Tech has lost only to top-ranked Texas in four games. The Big Eight has an 8-10-1 record against outside teams. Another split is likely Saturday.

Nebraska, 4-0, and Colorado, 3-0-1, appear to be headed for a showdown at Lincoln Oct. 23, a week ahead of the Nebraska-Missouri collision. Colorado then catches Missouri a week later, Nov. 6 at Boulder.

The Huskers have some injury problems at defensive end, but it's doubtful this will hurt them at K-State. They have too many weapons, too many ways to beat you. What's more the defense led by tackles Walt Barnes, 252, an All-America candidate, is back in form with two shutouts in a row.

"Our offense still makes a lot of errors which break down plays," Colorado Coach Eddie Crowder said. "But they are improving and this is the important thing. Our defense is beginning to play with that controlled but somewhat reckless abandon which is the trademark of good defensive units."

Missouri's powerful, time-eating ground game should be too much for UCLA, but the Bruins are dangerous with Gary Behan, a talented sophomore quarterback, at the controls. UCLA upset Syracuse 24-14 and Penn State 24-22 after an opening loss to undefeated Michigan State.

The Tigers are No. 2 nationally in rushing offense and Nebraska is No. 1 Halfback Charlie Brown is No. 5 nationally in rushing. Gary Lane will be back at quarterback. Injuries at end could hurt MU.

Oklahoma may turn to sophomore Gene Cagle, an excellent runner at quarterback, in an effort to get the offense moving. The Sooners gained 322 yards at Pittsburgh, but little against Navy and Texas.

Kansas handed Oklahoma its only Big Eight defeat last year, 15-14, scoring on a game-opening 93-yard kickoff return by Gale Sayers and on the game's final play. Bob Skahan ran 26 yards to score as time ran out, then Mike Johnson's two-point-er on a double reverse won it.

Oklahoma and Kansas rank at the bottom of the league in returning starters from 1964, but the Sooners appear to have more good young talent.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE with MAJOR HOOPLE

Picks Team For Game With Kansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a tough choice, but Coach Bob Devaney of Nebraska finally made it Thursday. He named his 40-man traveling squad for the Kansas State game.

And he had to admit there were players who earned the right to go to Manhattan, and were good enough, but 40 travelers is all the Big Eight allows for games away from home.

For that matter, with Devaney's wealth of football talent, he could have taken his entire squad on ability alone, if that were possible.

K-State Coach Doug Weaver must wish he had Devaney's problem.

Injuries and sickness depleted the Wildcats even more Thursday. Dave Alexander subbed for Rich Wilkinson at offensive tackle. Willie Jones, with a bruised back, was still in pads and may not start at the other tackle.

Defensive end Jim Perry, too, is a doubtful starter. Weaver said. Bill Greve is listed to start, but Weaver added of Perry, "Right now I will give him a chance to play. We won't know about his shoulder until we play him."

Colorado eased up on drills Thursday, but Iowa State wrapped it up. They play Saturday at Boulder. Coach Clay Stapleton said the Cyclones had a fine week of practice. Coach Eddie Crowder didn't say, but he let his Buffaloes go in early.

Senior right end Gordon Brown won't play for Oklahoma against Kansas at Norman Saturday, and that puts 12 sophomores among the 22 Sooners first-stringers. Brown is out with an infected leg, Coach Gomer Jones said. Sophomore Robert Kalsu will start for him.

And Coach Jack Mitchell of Kansas said Thursday he's going to try a new coaching gadget Saturday. He'll direct his Jayhawks from the press box, using a closed circuit television system and a video tape recorder, to allow him to review previous plays.

"This is the coming thing," Mitchell said. "There is no question that everybody is going to have it. The more we can learn through using this system, the more prepared we will be."

He said that Coach Dan Devaney of Missouri employed a similar electronics gadget in beating Kansas last year at Columbia, 34-14.

Thursday, though, Devaney still was wrestling with whom to start at quarterback Gary Lane, Gary Kombrink, or Lloyd Carr. Lane was said to be still weak from a virus attack, and Kombrink has a heel injury. Carr turned in a good relief performance against K-State last week.

UCLA is Missouri's opponent this Saturday, and chances are Lane will start. He's had the most experience at the position.

Closed Circuit TV To Be Used By Coach

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Jack Mitchell, Kansas football coach, says he will use closed circuit television in directing his team from the press box against Oklahoma at Norman Saturday.

The system will be hooked to a video tape recorder which will allow Mitchell to have plays rerun between downs.

Mitchell said Missouri used a similar system in beating Kansas 34-14 last fall at Columbia. He said video tape also is used during games by Texas, Nebraska and Texas Tech, among others.

Morrissey Nomination Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee has approved President Johnson's nomination of Francis X. Morrissey, 55, for U.S. Dist. Court Judge in Massachusetts.

Appointment of the old friend and political supporter of the Kennedy family now hinges on whether the Senate will follow the committee's recommendation.

Seven of the 16 committee members were absent Wednesday night as Morrissey underwent a second round of questioning and then was approved 6-3.

The Boston Municipal Court judge left the hearing smiling and saying he has "no hard feelings toward anyone."

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who voted against confirmation, said he will delay Senate action until next week but will not try to block a vote before Congress adjourns.

"I just want the facts laid out to my satisfaction," Dirksen told newsmen.

Joining Dirksen in opposing Morrissey's appointment were Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who recommended Morrissey to the President, voted for confirmation along with the committee chairman, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., and Sens. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., George A. Smathers, D-Fla., and Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D.

Not voting were Sens. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., Edward V. Long, D-Mo., Birch Bayh, D-Ind., Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md.,

the spy business. Stars Robert Culp and Bill Cosby spent most of the time walking jauntily around the streets of Hong Kong, occasionally pausing to talk to pretty, mysterious Oriental girls, police inspectors or having knives flung at them. It seems they were really in search of a mysterious Chinese drug that kills without leaving a trace and a secret society called the Blue Dragon which was threatening them.

Come on, fellows, that sort of stuff went out with Dr. Fu Manchu.

Old Friends Deserting TV Viewers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Even some of our old friends seem to be deserting us viewers some television nights. Take, for example the good old Bob Hope theatre on NBC which fills in with dramatic shows on weeks between the master's comedy specials.

They are usually reliable if ordinary efforts, usually of a suspense nature. But Wednesday night the situation seemed to get a little out of hand, even a little surrealistic.

There was this beautiful model who had a strange, kooky look in her eye. She is the anti-heroine, a model for television commercials, a Frug dancer and the wife of a socialite.

She is a real kook with a compulsion for gambling, and first thing you know she has this cab driver played by Mickey Rooney on the hook to the syndicate for $10,000. You may ask why a cab driver lets her run up such a big tab. It is because the script writer thought it would be interesting to make him a cable who makes book on the side!

But when this beautiful blonde kook can't pay up, she casually shoots Mickey dead. Imagine, Mickey Rooney, a star, shot dead only 20 minutes into the show.

After that everybody scurried around stowing Mickey in a wicker hamper, dropping him in the river and then came the police stuff. It was all very confusing, with a lot of people milling around.

Probably it was an off-night in

DO YOU HAVE NEW CARITIS?

A disease quite prevalent this time of year when the new model cars are being shown. Symptoms are frequent visits to auto show rooms, long talks with car salesmen and extreme nervousness around the home and at work. A short drive in a new model car usually aggravates the condition.

Business Analysis

Big Volume of Trading Good News To Brokers

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A flood of good news is turning some stock traders wary. Records are being set so regularly in so many segments of production and consumption that it's hard today to be bearish. But a few traders are beginning to wonder if some stocks haven't been bid to too-optimistic high levels.

The big volume of trading is good news to the brokerage houses selling on commission. Yet it adds a bit to the nervousness of the more conservative. They fear the heavy trading reveals an influx of novices taking a plunge. And speculative fever among the general public has a history of causing trouble.

When the low-priced stocks, and particularly those of companies little-known previously to the general public, start getting a big play, the conservative investor turns watchful.

But the economic news itself could hardly be better. Corporate profit reports are pouring in now. Most show prosperous sales and earnings conditions in the third quarter and the first nine months of 1965.

This quarterly gain in profits can no longer be classed as a surprise. Nor can the steady revision upward of the national statistics on output and personal incomes. Each three months, it seems, the nation's business has been better than predicted at the start of the period.

Bulls tend to see this as a new way of life for the U.S. economy. Some call it the new economics — meaning that the government has found the fiscal policies that will keep prosperity always a little brighter, a bit more widespread. The wary wonder what would happen to public complacency if in some future period the statistics weren't revised upward from earlier estimates.

This week the government has once more revised upward its earlier estimates of the total government and private output of goods and services. This Gross National Product rose in the July-September period to an annual rate of $67.9 billion.

Six Sets of Teeth Found in Rest Room

LONDON (AP) — Officials at nearby Gatwick Airport said today that during the last 12 months six sets of false teeth had been found in airport rest rooms.

This was a $11.9 billion increase over the second quarter of 1965 when the GNP had expanded by $9.5 billion. Government officials say the economy last summer just performed "a little better than most people had been expecting."

Many people must have felt this better than predicted showing was a pretty sure thing, however, since the annual rate of consumer spending jumped $77 billion in the summer months to a $432.2-billion pace. If there was any nervousness about the health of the economy, consumers were showing little of it.

ON A new kind of TV picture—sharper, clearer, easier to watch. The new Westinghouse Jet Set gives you a picture of photographic clarity even in a brightly lit room. The completely new transistorized circuitry means longer life, greater reliability and superior weak-area reception.

off The picture tube disappears from view and all you see is a handsome black panel. No big ugly eye to stare back at you. And there's Instant-On™ TV (other sets take about 25 seconds to warm up); a fold-away carrying handle; and memory fine tuning. ## Invade Luxembourg In NATO Maneuver

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — At least 2,000 troops will peacefully invade tiny Luxembourg next month to take part in a paper maneuver directed by the commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's center Europe allied forces.

The men from West Germany, Canada, America, France, Britain, Holland and Belgium will battle on their chairs for a week, from Nov. 29 to Dec. 4. The aim of the exercise is to train officers for quick and efficient reactions.

Recreation Plan Nod By Court

Jones Named Chairman Of Citizens Panel

Judges of the Pettis County Court have named Melvin L. Jones, a Sedalia businessman, as chairman to set up a citizens committee to proceed with formulation of plans for a water recreational project to be located south of here.

Jones told the Democrat-Capital Thursday he plans to proceed in organizing a committee by contacting Sedalia civic clubs and asking them to send representatives to a meeting in the near future. The committee to work in support of the project would be selected from these representatives.

The chairman of the committee was among city Board of Public Works members and a Lions Club committee which accompanied the county judges to Jefferson City Oct. 6 to investigate means of outside financial assistance for such a recreational project here.

Named the Sedalia - Pettis County Recreational Area, the project proposal includes 3,500 acres with a 900-acre reservoir as well as additional area for bridle paths, picnicking and camping. Also envisioned would be areas for use by groups such as the Boy Scouts, who have need for outdoor facilities.

The proposed lake and recreational area lies south of the Community Center Road between that road and Route V along Springfork Creek. A 55-foot earthen and concrete core dam some 1,000 feet in length would contain the creek waters to form the reservoir.

State officials expressed interest in the local proposal at the meeting in Jefferson City and urged preparation of plans.

Jones of the Dixie Kitchens firm at Main and Prospect here, has been one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the recreational proposal. His appointment to the committee chairmanship was made Wednesday by court judges C. Berry Elliott, E. L. Birdsong and C. M. Purchase.

Chief Miller In Conference Panel Talk

Sedalia Chief of Police William E. Miller will participate in a panel discussion at a specialized FBI law enforcement conference Monday in Jefferson City. The conference was announced by Special Agent in Charge Karl W. Dissly of the Kansas City FBI office.

The conference, entitled "Responsibilities of Law Enforcement," is designed to highlight the tremendous responsibilities facing all levels of law enforcement at the present time and how the profession can better equip itself to handle these matters.

According to Dissly, the conference will be attended by representatives of the FBI and law enforcement agencies in this area, including Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax. The meeting is being held in connection with a series of several conferences throughout the nation between now and Nov. 30.

Miller said Assistant Chief Charles Knapp and approximately three officers, as yet unnamed, will attend the session.

Prominent men in the law enforcement field in this state will attend and share the speaker's platform.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover stated that the scheduled conferences are in line with President Johnson's desires that Federal assistance be given to local law enforcement in its never-ending fight against the criminal world.

Seminars will be held in an attempt to determine the best approach in obtaining the cooperation of the public and to impress upon law enforcement officers that they not only must be right, but also must look right.

Suharto Named As Army Leader For Indonesia

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — President Sukarno of Indonesia named a new army commander Thursday — anti-Communist Maj. Gen. Suharto, who smashed the pro-Red coup attempt Sept. 30.

Suharto, who appears to be emerging as a strong man, succeeds Maj. Gen. Achmad Yani, who was slain by the pro-Communist rebels.

Sukarno, in statements made to the official news agency Antara and broadcast by Radio Jakarta, noted that since Yani's slaying he has been in full control of the army.

The appointment confirmed Suharto's rise to power since the coup attempt.

Sukarno removed Gen. Pranoto to Reksoamudro, known to be leftist inclined, from the top army post to which he had been named temporarily by the president shortly after the coup's collapse.

The Jakarta broadcast made no mention of Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, Sukarno's defense minister and armed forces commander, who presumably continues to occupy his positions.

Diplomatic sources in Kuala Lumpur and Singapore, who know the Indonesian situation, have rated Dutch-trained Suharto as a good soldier and possibly the only commander with enough backing at present to fight and beat the Communists.

Suharto, in his mid 40s, compares with Pranoto, who, diplomatic sources said, was first chosen by Sukarno as army chief immediately after the coup because he was "fully acceptable to the PKI," the Indonesian Communist party.

Suharto has been in the forefront of the army's anti-Communist campaign since it flared with the discovery of the bodies of six top army generals, including Yani's, Oct. 4. They had been apparently tortured by the rebels before death.

Sukarno had appointed Suharto to direct the campaign against the rebels in his Oct. 3 message to the nation, in which he had named Pranoto acting army chief.

This had seemed a demotion for Suharto at the time, but his name was repeatedly mentioned in Jakarta reports, particularly in connection with the army's anti-Communist crackdown.

The latest reports appeared to confirm earlier indications that the Communist-hating army high command was in full control of the situation in Indonesia.

However, Radio Jakarta also carried reports that Sukarno had pledged to "arbitrate" the crisis between the army and the pro-Communist rebels.

Another broadcast quoted Deputy Premier Subandrio, who also is foreign minister, as calling on the people to support the army's peace-restoration campaign and to pledge loyalty to Sukarno.

President Weaker Than Was Thought

WASHINGTON (AP) — A weary President Johnson lazed around his hospital suite Thursday. Though his recovery was said to be "coming along fine," an aide reported Johnson is "weaker than anyone thought."

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said the President is "gaining his strength more slowly than anyone thought."

Moyers offered this possible explanation: "I think the pace of the last 20 months has accumulated weariness that was not evident until the operation."

However, Moyers said Johnson's doctors remain satisfied with the pace of his recovery from gall bladder surgery performed last Friday at Bethesda Naval Hospital in suburban Bethesda, Md.

Johnson got up about 9 a.m. — late for him — after sleeping only fitfully. Moyers said the President still was discomfited by post-surgery gas pains but taking no sedatives.

Johnson handled at least one pleasant chore during the morning. He dictated a telegram to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who was observing his 75th birthday.

Johnson wrote that he had seen Eisenhower on television and greatly admired patriotic sentiments expressed at that time by the former president. "It did my heart good to see you on your 75th birthday so strong in spirit and body as you are indeed in the hearts of all your countrymen. Lady Bird joins me in warmest congratulations and best wishes," Johnson's telegram said.

Mrs. Johnson had a late breakfast with her husband and stayed for lunch.

The President did some more walking down a corridor of his third-floor suite and, at one point, left his bedroom to sit in an adjoining lounge.

Contract Is Awarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bushman Construction Co., St. Joseph, Mo., has been awarded a $1,619,082 contract to construct about 46 miles of irrigation canals, laterals and drains on the Almena unit in Kansas, the Interior Department announced Thursday.

The Almena unit is in the Reclamation Bureau's Missouri River Basin project. It is to provide irrigation water for 5,350 acres in Norton and Phillips counties.

Berkeley Police Concerned About Mass Demonstrations

Planned Protests Set Friday Across Nation

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The Berkeley police department is "deeply concerned about the possibility of violence" during mass protest demonstrations Friday of American involvement in Viet Nam.

Berkeley, a key city in two days of planned demonstrations around the nation against U. S. action in the Southeast Asian country, is expected to produce more than 5,000 demonstrators.

Berkeley Police Chief Addison H. Fording said he expects trouble when the Viet Nam Day Committee leads a procession off the University of California campus for the Oakland Army Terminal, 7½ miles away. Fording said:

"We have received reliable information today that certain disruptive groups are coming to this area to participate in or oppose the march and we are deeply concerned about the possibility of violence."

Both Berkeley and neighboring Oakland, through which the march would go, denied the committee's request for parade permits.

The demonstrations and parade are scheduled to start Friday at 7:30 p.m.

The committee plans a huge "sleepout" on a vacant lot near the Oakland Army Base, staging area for soldiers going to Viet Nam.

In Berkeley, a West Coast citadel of activist groups against U.S. foreign policy, about 600 combat-ready National Guardsmen were ordered to report for special duty to support police if necessary.

The committee was denied a parade permit Thursday by Oakland's acting city manager, John A. Morin. The committee said it would march anyway.

The parade would not be in the interests of "health, safety and general welfare," Morin said. He cited as a reason the committee's recent unsuccessful attempts to stop troop trains at Oakland.

Organizers said demonstrations will be staged in 100 American cities and groups in 20 foreign countries will participate in "international days of protest."

The two-day protest was mapped in the Madison, Wis., headquarters of the National Coordinating Committee to End the War in Viet Nam.

Nine Die In Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department Thursday listed nine soldiers and two Marines killed in action.

The soldiers included: Sgt. 1. c. Gerald L. Dozier, husband of Mrs. Bettie J. Dozier, Junction City, Kan.

PFC. Wayne P. E. Breeding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Breeding, Eureka, Mo.

Warrensburg Shoe Plant Expansion

To Hire Workers Number From 284 To 400 Shortly

Construction started Wednesday on a project which will make the Warrensburg branch of Town and Country Shoes, Inc., the largest of the firm's three factories, it was reported.

Addition to and remodeling of the Warrensburg plant, estimated at a cost of $122,200, will mean 40 by 270 feet of new floor space and jobs for about 100 area residents.

Work on the present plant will include major remodeling, installation of new equipment and major rearrangement of present facilities. When completed, the plant will be air-conditioned, the company's officers reported. The firm also has factories in Sedalia and Slater.

General contractor for the works is Tempel-Callison, Sedalia. The company hopes to increase production in the Warrensburg plant from 2,600 pairs of shoes daily to 3,600 pairs, Cyril Hanrahan, plant superintendent, said.

The additional employees, according to Hanrahan, will raise the annual payroll at Warrensburg to about $1,400,000.

D. S. Westmoreland, district manager of Missouri Public Service Co., and president of the Warrensburg Development Corp., said, "I want to stress the great cooperation of the two Warrensburg banks in this project . . . It is an excellent example." (Please turn to Page 4, Col. 2)

On Test Standby

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The 47 squadrons of the Missouri wing of the Civil Air Patrol have been alerted to stand by for a test this weekend.

The CAP radio network of 25 stations will contact the senior and cadet members Friday afternoon, giving each squadron specific orders.

Ground units of ambulances, mobile communication units and personnel carriers will converge on Jefferson City Saturday morning. CAP planes will begin to arrive Friday night.

The operation will end Sunday after a critique by Civil Defense and Air Force observers.

Hiked to $8.5 Million

Kaysinger Funds Over Last Hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House quickly approved Thursday a compromise $4,292,866,500 appropriation bill to finance construction of public works projects across the nation.

The action was taken on a voice vote after House-Senate conferees reached agreement on a bill. The measure now goes to the Senate.

The appropriation for two Missouri construction projects was upped. The Kaysinger Bluff Reservoir was hiked from $7 million to $8.5 million and the Chariton River from $1,180,000 to $1.5 million.

The compromise figure compared with $4,241,636,500 approved by the House $4,327,589,000 granted by the Senate and $4,387,616,000 originally sought by the administration.

About half of the total—$2,121,922,000—goes to the Atomic Energy Commission.

The bill also includes funds for the Army Engineers and the Reclamation Bureau.

The appropriation for a survey of the Blue River in Kansas and Missouri was upped from $25,000 to $30,000.

Two Kansas projects not in the earlier version of the bill were

Remonstrance Petition On Project Is Null

A remonstrance petition opposing curb and guttering on Murray Avenue between Ninth and 12th Streets does not contain a majority of the property owners, City Engineer R. W. Cunningham told Mayor L. L. Studer in a letter dated Wednesday to the mayor and City Council.

The council on Sept. 7 had approved a curb and guttering project for the street, but at their Oct. 4 meeting the council received the remonstrance petition. Council members then instructed the city engineer to study the abstracts of the land involved and prepare a report.

Cunningham told the mayor the total frontage of the private property involved on Murray Avenue was 1,485 feet and the frontage owned by signers of the remonstrance petition totaled 237 feet. The city engineer said there is a total of 15 property owners involved and two had signed the remonstrance.

"This does not constitute a majority of the resident owners who own more than one-half of the frontage on Murray Avenue from 9th to 12th Streets signing the remonstrance petition against the proposed curb and guttering," Cunningham informed the mayor in the letter.

Studer said the engineer's report will be presented to the council at the next meeting.

listed. For construction of the Melvern Reservoir the House listed $750,000 and for planning of the Hillsdale Reservoir $10,000.

The appropriation for survey of the Arkansas River from Great Bend to the John Martin Reservoir was hiked from $74,000 to $114,000.

Rain Plays Havoc With Area Traffic

A downpour of rain which began falling shortly before noon Thursday, created havoc on the highways in the area, especially those with blacktop. One accident at the Muddy Creek Hill bridge on U.S. Highway 50 involved a State Highway Patrol car and a passenger car shortly before 11:30 o'clock.

A few minutes later two cars collided at the top of the Muddy Creek Hill, and a few minutes later another vehicle slid from the pavement near LaMonte. Shortly after noon another accident occurred on South U. S. Highway 65 when a car crashed into a Missouri State Fair grounds fence.

Three persons were admitted to the Bothwell hospital for observation as a result of the accident on West 50 at the Muddy Creek bridge, none believed to be of a serious nature.

Mrs. Barbara Willard, 31, and her son Charles Willard, three-and-a-half-years old, and Mrs. Willard's mother, Mrs. Alveda L. McCosh, 52, Richland, all suffered minor bruises and contusions. The boy had a contusion on his head.

Urban Renewal Program Meet Set Oct. 21

Mayor L. L. Studer announced Thursday that the first organizational meeting of the 30-member citizens committee named to prepare an urban renewal program here will be held on Thursday, Oct. 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the City Council chamber.

The first duty of the committee will be to organize and select two members to serve as chairman and vice-chairman, Studer said.

Also scheduled to be at the meeting are representatives of the Hare & Hare municipal planning firm of Kansas City and the federal government.

Studer appointed the 30-member advisory panel on Sept. 20 with City Council approval and the group is to prepare and submit a workable program for community progress through urban renewal, including elimination of blight areas. The group's proposal would be under the Federal Housing and Home Finance agency, according to the mayor.

Merger Of Insurance Companies Approved

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The state Division of Insurance Thursday approved the merger of Frontier Life Insurance Co. of Jefferson City and Tower National Life Insurance Co. of Springfield, Mo.

The boards of directors of both companies will meet next Wednesday to choose new officers of the surviving Frontier Tower Life Insurance Co. Shareholders of both companies, which include many political and governmental officers, approved the merger last June.

Final approval came Thursday from a special commission composed of the Missouri insurance superintendent, Robert D. Schwarz; John F. Bolton Jr., director of insurance for Illinois; and William E. Timmons, Iowa insurance commissioner.

The merged companies have more than $90 million in insurance in force, covering some 6,000 policyholders. Their combined assets are about $3.5 million.

Buses in the Limelight...

Locally and state-wide, the subject of school buses has been in the news lately.

Locally attention was focused on rural school buses when representatives of four districts annexed to the Sedalia school system appeared before the Sedalia Board of Education to protest the limited schedules for pickups of their children. Twenty-two stops were not enough, they asserted.

Two weeks later it was announced the stops would be doubled to 44 after board members rode in the buses and in private cars over the routes as originally laid out. Thereafter the revision was made to increase the stops.

Here was a good example of a board dealing with public affairs by getting down to grass roots' solution of a vexing problem. Many can be unraveled that way.

Apparently this was done since no uproar has been raised by taxpayers about the $600 additional expense for the extra stops, and no further dissatisfaction expressed by the rural patrons.

State-wide attention is now focused on changes in the school bus law made by the General Assembly. These become effective next Wednesday. The new law covers all areas in its application requiring motorists to stop for all school buses loading or unloading children in the cities or unincorporated areas as well as in the country.

Also a new provision specifies that a motorist meeting a school bus does not have to stop if he is proceeding in the opposite direction from the bus on a highway of four or more lanes.

Pertaining to bus drivers themselves a new provision of the law states that they should remain stopped, after loading or unloading children, if their bus is followed by three or more vehicles. The latter should be allowed to pass if prevailing conditions make it safe to do so.

Is the discussion of school buses exhausted? We thought so for a moment until a patron wanted to know if the school buses that transport high school children to out-of-town athletic contests, such as football games, are not sometimes overcrowded. Are boards put between the seats to accommodate the overflow? he asks. Isn't there an insurance requirement relating to the seating capacity for each bus?

Here's a problem about bus boards that only a group like our own Board of Education can effectively splinter.

So, give it the ax, fellows, for safety's sake! GHS

Reston In Viet Nam

James Reston, Associate Editor of the New York Times, does not like what he saw in Vietnam. He writes that "the economy there is battered by war and swollen by the United States."

There is a railroad station but no trains, although there is a staff and troops to guard them. There are rubber plantations, but they have been knocked out of action by American bombs. Rice from California has been shipped to supplant the native industry which provided enough rice for export. The plaster, Vietnamese currency, is in bad shape. Inflation increases everyday.

All of this is the consequence of many years of war. Half a million Vietnamese men are in the armed forces, plus 140,000 Americans. Transportation is one of the greatest problems.

Life is hard for the Vietnamese. The

Castro Benefits by Exporting Cubans

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — If Fidel Castro operates as in the past, he will make a tidy profit from each Cuban he allows to flee to the United States.

Assuming Castro's men follow past procedures, every Cuban leaving the country will be forced to turn over his house, his car and all of his other property to the government. Each emigre (with a family of four) will be allowed to carry only two suitcases.

Before he leaves, his house will be inspected and an inventory taken of his belongings — clothing, furniture, jewelry, silverware, radios, television, air conditioners, art objects, tools, bicycles.

He (or she) will not be allowed to take any of these possessions except five dresses (or the equivalent in suits), three changes of underclothing and stockings, one pair of shoes (the pair being worn), one pair of pajamas or a nightgown, toilet articles, $30 worth of jewelry but no money of any kind. He won't be permitted to sell his possessions before leaving. He will be forbidden to give his possessions (even personal jewelry, silverware and family heirlooms) to relatives or friends.

One woman privately tells her personal experiences. She had applied for permission to leave Cuba. She had waited months. Then one day she received a telephone call from a Castro worker.

The Castro agent told her: "You will not be allowed to leave the country. You have taken too many things out of your house. I'll give you a warning. If you don't go and get the things you have taken away and bring them back, you won't be allowed to leave."

The lady had taken a few pieces of porcelain pieces — family heirlooms — and given them to a close relative. Frightened by the warning, she went and got these mementos and returned them to her house.

Then Castro's men arrived to take an inventory of her home and possessions. In the middle of the inspection, one investigator asked what she had done with her air conditioner. She told him she had none. He insisted she must bring them back. She told him he could see there were no holes in the wall where air conditioners had been. After much talk, she finally convinced the man she was telling the truth.

The inventory team went on with its thorough search, made a complete list of her possessions.

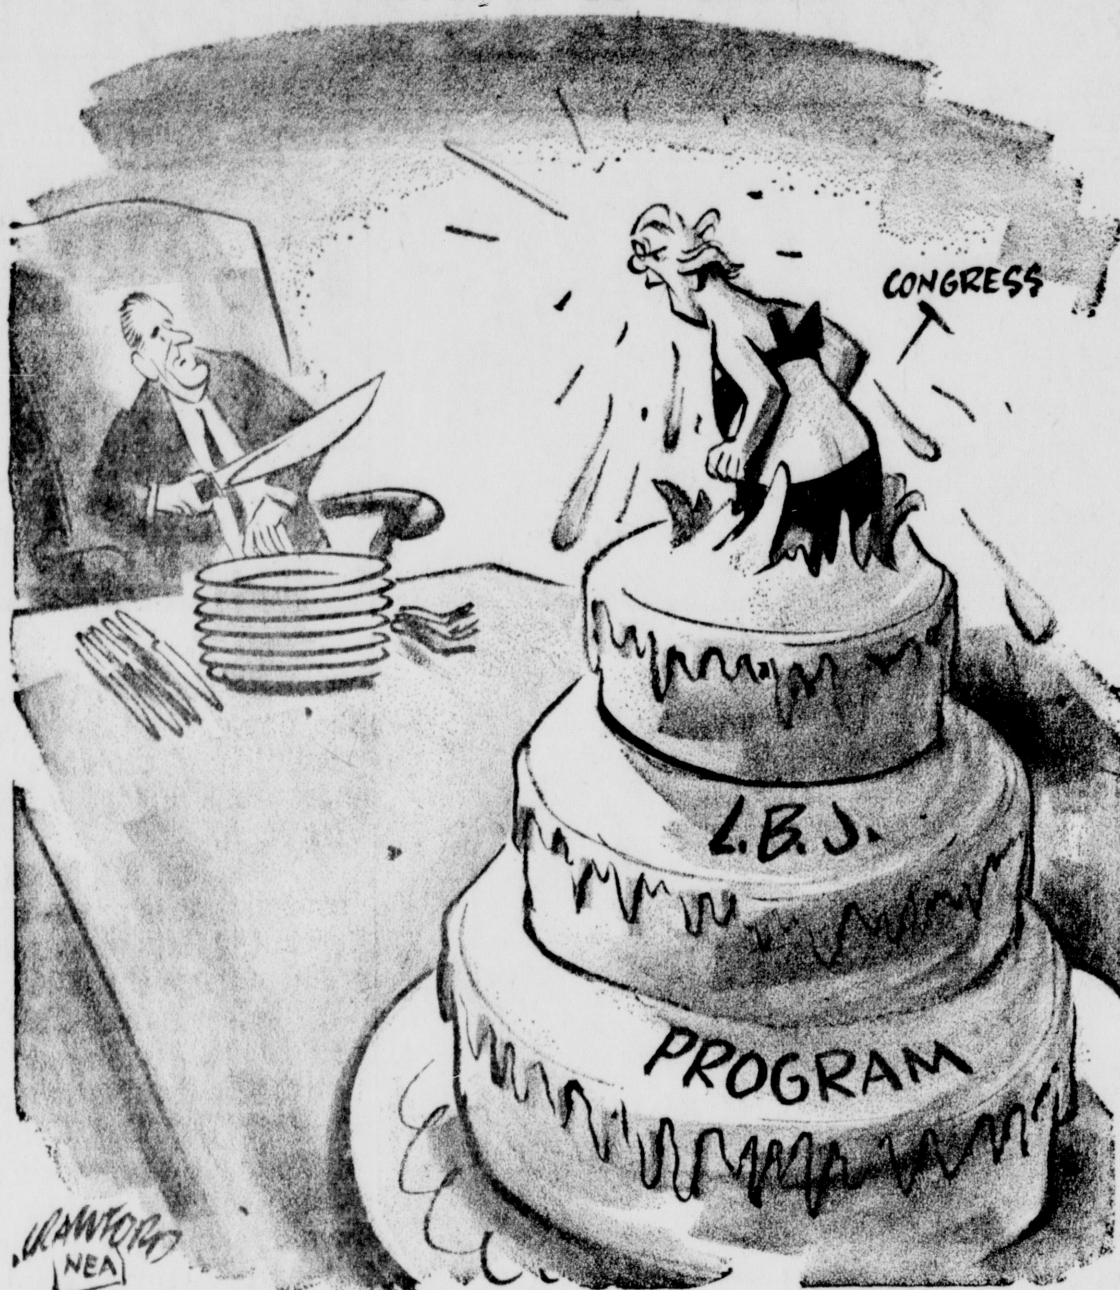

After more waiting, she was allowed to leave Cuba. But she was watched continuously to make certain she took nothing out of the house and mailed no packages. When she left Cuba, her baggage was inspected to make sure she took nothing of value.

Based on these precedents, therefore, Castro probably will give priority to letting the well-to-do leave. He makes more on their property.

Cubans say they have seen many of the personal possessions of their emigre friends packed up for shipment to eastern Europe and the Soviet Union to pay Castro's debts.

There are a good many unhappy older people in Cuba. Some live on tiny government payments. Some are supported out of the meager incomes of relatives. Many are unable to work. Castro considers them a drain on his shaky economy. By letting them go, he saves on scarce food.

Use Caution

Soviet Changes In Year Since Khrushchev Ouster

MOSCOW (AP) — It has been a year since Nikita Khrushchev was expelled from the Kremlin. Much has changed — perhaps more than is known, for the secrecy that existed under him has been increased.

Much remains the same. The place he filled until last Oct. 14 is occupied by an almost impersonal government-party collective, with the net result that Moscow is duller both for Soviets and for foreigners.

Khrushchev put his personal touch on everything that happened in the Soviet Union. To paraphrase one of his own expressions: Before a leader as colorful comes to the fore again, shrimps may learn to whistle.

Collective leadership, with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, and President Anastas I. Mikoyan at the top, runs the country. One Western writer phrased it: "Collective leadership is based on the collective fear of the possibility of a return to a one-man dictatorship."

The fear has not altogether disappeared. Bright new officials, nearly 15 years younger than the present leaders, have moved into prominence.

The recent central committee session damped the talk of any hurried one-man takeover. Brezhnev and Kosygin dominated the show — collectively.

Most of Khrushchev's projects were accompanied by great fanfare.

Many flopped, and the new leaders are scrapping those that survive.

List a few: 1. The wheat-quick virgin land scheme was an early success, but a long range bust, now is partly plowed under.

2. The corn program — millions of acres were planted into corn instead of wheat in areas where it did not have a chance to mature. As a result corn is now almost a dirty word in the Soviet Union. Wheat must be brought in from Canada.

3. "Get out of Berlin," a warning to the West that brought new American troops and more rockets into West Germany, now is on ice.

4. An ineffective decentralization of industrial controls, with creation of a flock of regional economic committees, was wiped out in the reform program just ordered into effect.

5. The Cuba rocket scheme, from which Khrushchev retreated with his knees knocking. In those fateful hours of October and November 1962, Soviet radar could spot circling American nuclear bombers at the frontiers, and lights in Moscow apartment houses were on all night as frightened citizens kept their radios turned on for foreign stations.

That act was probably the one that ultimately put the skids under him.

The new leaders, more cautious, seem unlikely to undertake anything like that.

Khrushchev himself has simply dropped out of sight. He was apparently very sick recently.

Most of the time he lives in a dacha outside Moscow, but he has a city apartment. He showed up months ago with his wife, Nina, at an art show and once voted at elections.

Khrushchev popularized in the Soviet Union the policy of peaceful coexistence with the West, still a major doctrine of the present collective even though relations with America have gone downhill due to the Viet Nam affair.

Unlike Khrushchev, who sought to have the Chinese publicly expelled from communism for their attacks on him and the Soviet Union, the present leadership is trying to quiet the dispute.

The economic slippage from which the Soviet Union suffered under Khrushchev continues. Food production is not keeping up with the increasing population. Even the new five-year program of the present leaders calls for barely half the number of tractors, grain combines and trucks on farms in 1970 that are found already on American farms that have less than two-thirds the Soviet acreage.

However, the new industrial program is aimed at cutting off bureaucratic restraints from Soviet industry, mainly accumulated under Khrushchev, so as to unleash the managerial capacity of factory directors — with more pay promised them and workers too.

FINDING THE WAY

Are YOU Honest?

By RALPH W. LOWE, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Among the major moral crises of our time, none is more important than the problem of honesty. That simple virtue is tested in more profound ways than just being truthful in reporting one's income, or in the day-by-day exchange of money for goods.

It has to do with honesty in art and architecture as well as in economics. It has to do with the reporting of news as well as a tendency to lie about one's age or weight. It involves integrity in urban planning and political arrangements as well as in advertising and in the selling of merchandise. It has to do with testimony in courts as well as in quiz shows.

Chiefly, it has to do with being honest with one's own self, for the final degradation of the human being would be to believe a lie, and to act on it, when you had told it to yourself!

In a sense one of the chief enemies of integrity is convention. Keeping in step with the customs of the office, or of the neighborhood or of suburbia can drive a normally honest person into all kinds of subtle frauds. When a whole civilization perpetuates this kind of deceit, we breed the hypocrisy which many detect as the sickness of our time.

The fact that a book such as "Catcher in the Rye" is so significant is not only in terms of its artistic structure; it is in its examination of an adolescent's idea that all of his elders are phonies. He fails to find integrity in his parents, his teachers or his peers.

In the past few months significant and frank statements have been issued by Protestant and Roman Catholic leaders concerning this need for honesty in the church. One major denomination presented a report stating that the church member who joins in a prayer that prejudice and hatred be removed from his heart and then goes into his home or neighborhood to do nothing about it, indulges in blasphemy. That's strong language but then the offense is blatant. To pray "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done," and not to actually desire that will in personal living is a form of dishonesty.

Obviously, our national and international problems require more than honesty. An honest Communist is still a problem. An honest Ku Klux Klansman is still a threat.

George Forell, a theologian and philosopher, once said: "You cannot inherit truth; you cannot learn truth as you learn the Gettysburg Address. Ultimate truth must be believed... not by accepting propositions about God as true do we serve him in truth, but by letting his truth work in us so that in every

In the Soviet Union, people dress and eat more poorly and live less liberal lives than in the East European states.

But young girls walking along the streets have, in the past year, cut two inches off the lengths of their dresses, following Paris, Rome and Budapest fashions.

A thing that Khrushchev always complained about still troubles the present leaders. The people here would like to live the way people do in the West and grumble that despite the vaunted wonders of communism, it takes a long time to make it.

act of our lives we bear witness to his truth."

It is this integrity which is a cornerstone in individual and social behavior. We have no more urgent problem than just to be honest with ourselves and to share that understanding of ultimate truth in all that we are!

spades for his spade call. It didn't take the Italians long to find their spade fit.

East doubled. South went to two diamonds. West called two spades and East raised him to game.

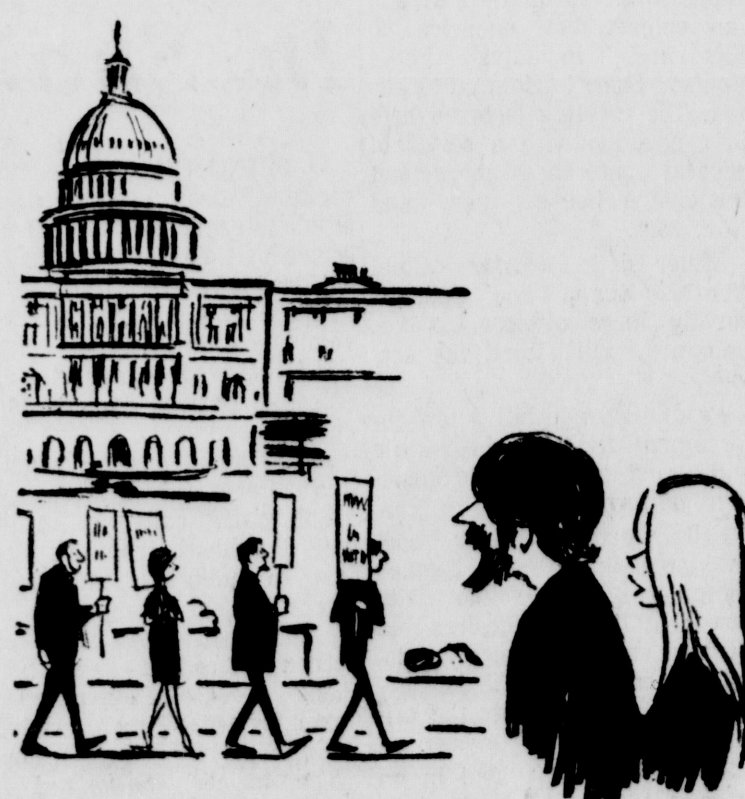

South might have saved at five diamonds because he was not vulnerable but it was possible that his partner held enough spades to embarrass his opponents. In any event he knew that he would be set at five diamonds and no one gets rich taking sure losses.

Strangely enough there was no need for the American team to lose on this board. At the other table the bidding was very spirited and Italy saved at six diamonds after we had gone to five spades.

If West had been looking at all the cards he could have opened a club. The defense would have cashed two clubs right off the bat and would collect two hearts and a diamond later on for a 700-point penalty.

Unfortunately for us he wasn't looking at all the cards and opened a spade. This gave South a chance for an immediate club discard on the ace of spades. He still had to lose the same two hearts and one diamond but he only lost one club so that the penalty was 500 points only.

The Squirrels

Up the trunk of the tree I saw him sail

Flaunting behind him his bushy tail,

Over and under I saw him whirl

On the big tree limb—this perky squirrel;

Then came another frisking along.

Not quite so daring—not quite so strong,

And the first one looked back like a bully might do

As if to say: "I'm going to get you—"

And he darted back, encircling the limb,

There wasn't a bit of fear in him—

The second one turned, it seemed, in fright,

To hurry back down with all his might

Picking his way along the branches

As if afraid to take any chances—

The first one stood up and looked about

Then quickly scampered in and out

And the other young squirrel watched as he

Swung gaily into another tree

Where the wide branches almost meet

Of the great elms across a street.

Then the second squirrel at the tip branch now

Waited to swing, but couldn't somehow,

Down the other tree trunk the dare devil ran,

While the other turned back with: "I don't think I can."

And picked his way back the way he came,

Maybe with just a trace of shame

But I smiled at the thing I watched him do

For that's exactly what I'd have done, too.

Local Go-Kart Fans Revive Enthusiasm

DOTY A LEADING RACER—Fred Doty, a young Sedalia man who is one of the top go-kart drivers here, shows off his single-engine machine just prior to the feature race at the championship races Sunday. Doty won the single-engine trophy dash, a four-lap event, and then won his preliminary eight-lap heat race only to have motor troubles ruin his chances in the feature. He started near the rear in the feature race and zipped into third spot in short order where he was running when his engine began fouling out causing him to miss two laps.

CROWD INTENT ON START—Spectators lean forward in their seats as a race is about to start in the go-kart championships held south of town last Sunday. At the upper right, go-kart racers round the final curve and head down the main straightaway to the flagman for the start of the single-engine feature race.

BLURRING INTO CURVE—Go-karts turn into blurs as they cut across the camera's field of vision in this picture taken at the head of one of the two hairpin curves on the race track south of here. Enthusiasts say the larger dual-engine karts develop 70 m.p.h. speeds on the local track.

Sponsor State Championship Race

By LARRY EMBRY

Go-karting, a sport that has had its ups and downs, is on the revival here and if there was any doubt about a comeback it was erased Sunday as the Central Missouri Kart Club sponsored a state championship racing event at their track south of Sedalia.

Over 30 top go-kart competitors from throughout Missouri and as far away as Leavenworth, Kan., were on hand to battle for trophies in the afternoon program, which provided fans a full four hours of racing thrills.

While go-karting is racing for fun, it is also in racing's best tradition and drivers don't race togs, helmets and goggles just like modified stock car or big car competitors. The same flag system is utilized and the hustle in the pit area is familiar.

But the similarity ceases when a go-kart spins out on a curve or bounces into the rough. No ambulance sirens scream or wreckers roar onto the track to aid the driver and remove the car.

They aren't necessary. Injuries are seldom recorded and the driver serves as his own wrecker—helping the front end of his tiny machine and pulling it away to the pit area.

The state championship race card was officiated by Central Missouri Racing Association officials, who watch over super modified circuits in this area. Handling the flags was Kenny Austin, scoring laps was Jewell Kidwell and assisting in scoring was Floyd Stevenson.

Go-karters competed in two classes, single engine and dual engine vehicles with the bigger double-engine machines zipping up to 70 m.p.h. speeds on the straightaways. Out-of-town drivers took the big trophies with David Leford, Independence, nabbing the dual engine crown and Curt Kibby, Kansas City, the single engine feature.

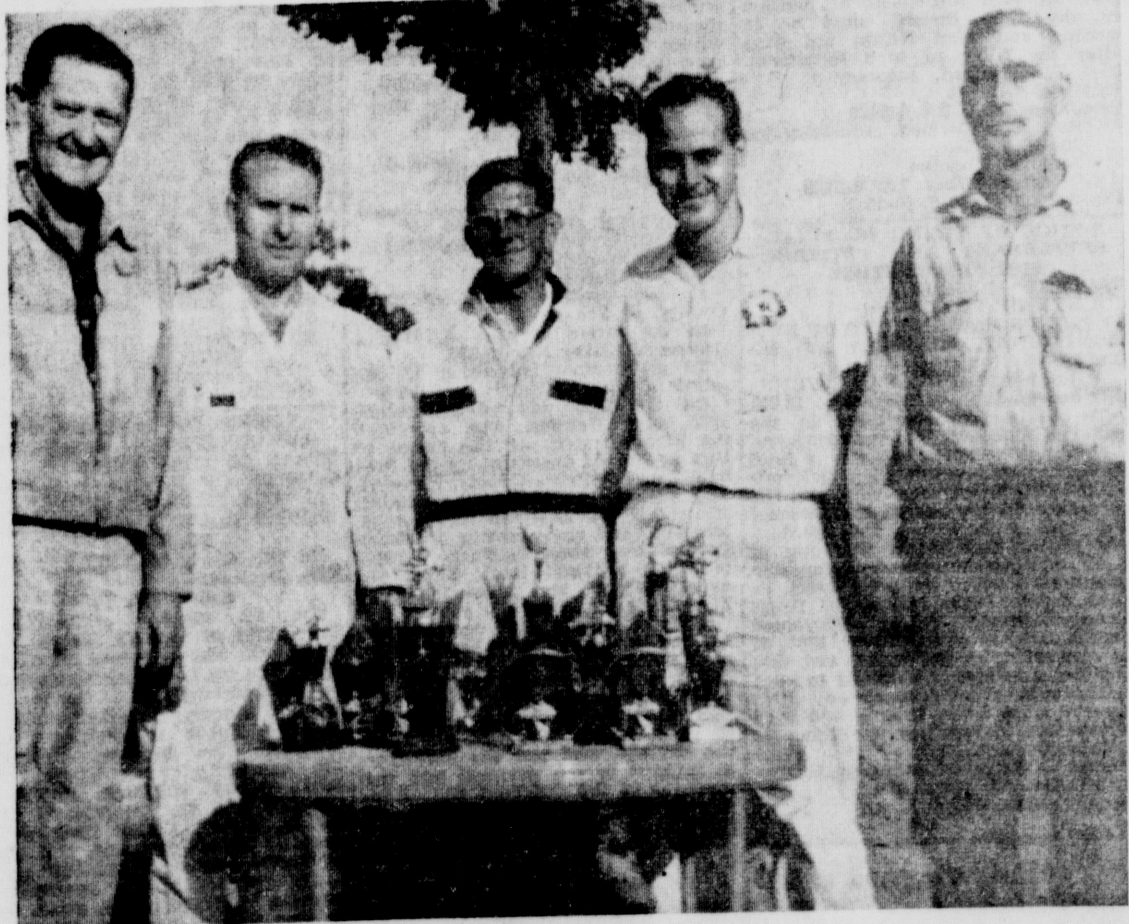

Located on the Catholic Community Center road, south of Sedalia and east of Highway 65, the track where the local go-kart club races and holds its events is known as the Kartarama Thrillway. The track covers approximately one-third of a mile in distance and is not laid out in the conventional race track oval—but rather in a challenging road-type course.

Included are two hairpin curves, two more modified curves and two long straightaways. Drivers thus get an opportunity to be heavy on the throttle, but also must maneuver with skill to round the sharp curves.

FLAGMAN WAVES GO—CMRA flagman Kenny Austin drops the go flag in a heat race at the go-kart track south of Sedalia and the ground-hugging vehicles turn into blurs as drivers turn on the fuel. Races all begin from a running start. The track where the event was held is laid out in a road-type course, including two sharp hairpin turns, two modified curves and two long straightaways.

KART CLUB OFFICERS—These officers of the Central Missouri Kart Club were on hand Sunday as the club sponsored its state championship racing event. They are, left to right,

John Hill, secretary; Art Richards, vice president; Don Parkes, president; Richard Warren, treasurer; and Eldon Hogan, sergeant at arms.

Influenza Cases May Increase In Nation

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Health officials have said influenza cases may rise nationwide this winter, but a spokesman says no serious outbreaks are expected.

Influenza comes in two major strains which recur in different cycles, skipping years between major outbreaks, the Communicable Disease Center of the U.S. Public Health Service said Thursday.

According to schedule, both strains are due this year.

However, Dr. David Sencer of the CDC said outbreaks were not expected to be serious, and would occur primarily in the West.

medical treatment and had x-rays taken to determine if there might be any fractures.

The injured were taken to the hospital in a Gillespie ambulance.

Involved in the accident was a State Highway Patrol car, a 1965 Chrysler sedan driven by Trooper Pete Stohr, and the 1959 Dodge sedan driven by Mrs. Willard. Both vehicles were headed west according to Mrs. Willard.

Mrs. Willard reported she was enroute to Raytown and seeing the approaching vehicle from the west marked "Wide Load" pulling a trailer, had stopped at the east end of the bridge. She was struck from the rear by a patrol car, and the vehicles skidded some distance onto the bridge.

However, it was reported the unit making the approach to the bridge had pulled over and stopped at the west end of the bridge. Mrs. Willard said it was pouring down rain and appeared to be slick.

Trooper Stohr who was with Lt. R. E. Davis, of the Highway Patrol from Lees Summit, could not be contacted for his version of the accident. State Patrol headquarters at Lees Summit, reported weather conditions were so bad, they were unable to contact the patrol cars in this vicinity for a report or to obtain reports on two other accidents which had occurred. Radio interference, they said, was so bad they were unable to make the contact with the investigation Patrol. Lt. Davis, who was checking on Trooper Stohr's accident and Trooper R. Joos who investigated the accident at LaMonte, or Trooper Robert Bruce who investigated the accident at the top of Muddy Creek Hill.

It was also reported the highway was extremely slick and Trooper Stohr was unable to bring his vehicle to a stop to avoid the accident.

The Patrol car and the Dodge were towed to Sedalia by Bacon's wrecker.
